Our City comment & discussion

by THOMAS D. WATSON

The 6000 "Circulation" of the Glendale Evening News

IN yesterday's editorial your attention was called to the claim of the Glendale News of having a circulation of 6000 copies per day.

Since reading this article we have made an investigation and find that their claim is based on the fact that the News is sampling the homes of Glendale with free copies.

When the Glendale Press was started as a daily we distributed throughout the city free copies. Our purpose in doing this was to let the citizens of Glendale see what kind of a paper we were editing, for when the Press was a weekly publication it was much smaller in size than was the daily.

* * *

THIS free distribution by the Press was bitterly criticised by the Glendale News. In a great many commodities which are presented to the public for the first time it has been recognized that if the article has merit, sampling to the public at large is good business. With a newspaper, which celebrated its tenth anniversary last Thursday it is a different proposition. Taking into consideration the claims of the News, the purpose of this free distribution was not for the reason of letting the citizens see the paper, but for the purpose of claiming a circulation of 6000.

* * *

CIRCULATION and circularizing are two different propositions. The circulation of a daily newspaper is a total of the newspapers furnished each day to paid subscribers. The giving of free samples is not credited as circulation by any newspaper authorities and should not be given much consideration as an advertising medium.

The advertising value of a newspaper which is thrown around from door to door is no greater than dodgers, which clutter up our autos and our yards.

Advertisers should insist that the rate of advertising be on an equal basis with the dodgers.

Our opinion as to the value of circularizing newspapers was undoubtedly shared by the News, for on February 28 the following was carried at the top of the first page of the Glendale Evening News:

"Largest Bona Fide Circulation in Glendale Guaranteed Advertisers."

Since then the claim has been discontinued and a claim of 6000 circulation made without any mention of it being bona fide.

FILIBUSTER AGAINST NITRATE PURCHASE BILL

WASHINGTON, March 3. (A. P.)—Signs of a filibuster in the senate against the house bill in retaliation of the filibuster in the house against the senate nitrate purchase bill developed late today with Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, declaring that unless Republican house leaders let the nitrate measure through he might block all house legislation coming to the senate.

ANNUAL CITY MEETING OF W.C.T.U. SET

Divided Into Two Sessions, First Is Held Friday

EXCELLENT REPORTS

Glendale Union Gives $115.50 to the Old Ladies' Home

The City W. C. T. U. of Glendale is dividing its annual meeting into two sessions, the first of which was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Louis Sipple, 230 North Louise street.

In spite of unfavorable weather there was an excellent attendance. Owing to the illness and death of a friend, Mrs. Bacon, who was to have taken charge of the program, was unable to be present, and Mrs. Ruby Smart, president of the organization, conducted the meeting in her stead.

A demonstration of the field covered by "The Union Signal," official organ of the W. C. T. U., and of its value to members was made by Mrs. Brandstater with a strong plea for subscriptions.

The W. C. T. U. Constitution was reviewed and compared with the federal constitution by Mrs. Smart, who gave its history from the date it was adopted in 1878, including the nineteen amendments referring to the amendment now pending before Congress, to change the date of the inauguration of the President of the United States from March to January.

Reports were submitted by the heads of the different departments, that of the old ladies' home at Highland Park, presented by Mrs. Palmer being of great interest. It showed that $115.50 had been contributed to the home by the Glendale Union.

The report of the legislative department by Mrs. Sipple showed a considerable amount of work for the Wright act performed by the organization.

The publicity department head showed 110 feet of clippings from the Glendale papers with not all of them turned in. The work of the floral department for shut-ins was also of interest.

At the next meeting, which will be an all-day session beginning at 10 a. m., March 16, at the home of Mrs. R. W. Mottern on N. Adams street, reports of officers will be received, the president will make her annual address, and officers for the coming year will be elected.

WHITE CALLS HIS COMMITTEE TO MEET

Richardson D. White, of this city, who is chairman of the Council of Education of the California Teachers' association, Southern section, has called a meeting of his committee which includes representatives from eight or more districts in the county at the headquarters of the association in the Loew building, Seventh and Broadway, on Saturday, to consider action relative to the governor's budget for the schools of California, now before the legislature.

PAVING OF P. E. CROSSINGS TO BE RUSHED

Maple and Lomita to Be Put Into Good Condition

The Pacific Electric crossings on Brand boulevard at Maple street and Lomita will at once be put in such condition as will enable automobiles to cross at those points, according to a statement of L. A. Crooks, paving superintendent of the Pacific Electric company, to City Manager Reeves this morning. This will be done the first part of the week.

Everything is ready, according to Mr. Crooks, for the paving of the company's right of way on Brand. This work has been held up on account of lack of broken rock. This has arrived, however, and the work will be rushed as rapidly as possible.

EARLY GARBAGE COLLECTION NOW

Here's a message from the garbage man.

The collector of garbage in Glendale requests that the garbage cans be placed at curbing the "night before," meaning by this, the night before the day on which the collector is supposed to call.

An additional truck has been placed in service by the collector, which means that some homes will be called on at an early hour in the morning.

GLENDALE HIGH TAKES SECOND AT TRACK MEET

Arrives Late at Alhambra But Team Makes Good

Friday afternoon a practice track meet was held at Alhambra in which athletes from four high schools participated, viz: El Monte, South Pasadena, Glendale and Alhambra. El Monte is not a member of the Central league but was allowed to enter because it was simply a practice meet.

Glendale entrants arrived a little late, although they reached Alhambra at 3:30, the time set. But for some reason the meet started earlier and therefore the Glendale boys missed some of the events in which they would probably have scored well. As it was they gave a good account of themselves, winning second place with a score of 42 against El Monte's 57. Alhambra made 16 points and South Pasadena 12. Glendale won the 220 and 440-yard dashes, the shot-put and pole vault. It also had first place in broad jump and second in discus. Howard Elliott was high point man for Glendale with 10 points out of the 42. Others who participated were Carlyle Bailey, James Purdy, Weldon Hampton, Leslie Lavell, Clifton Floss, Dave Griffith, Richard Kelsey, Darrell Elliott, Cyril Walton.

This was the first track meet of the year for the boys of Glendale high. They will have another with San Fernando next Tuesday and the following Friday will take part in a practice meet with Monrovia and the California Tech. freshmen. The following Friday they will compete with South Pasadena.

The big league meet to be held on the campus of Occidental, will take place March 24. That is the event to which all the schools are looking forward.

COMMUNITY SONG LEADERS' CLUB ORGANIZED

Those Attending Institution From Permanent Unit

The Glendale Community Service Song Leaders' Club was organized at a meeting of those who had been attending the song leaders' institute, held under the direction of Alexander Stewart and just completed, held last night at the home of Mrs. W. A. Kulp, 355 West Vine street. Mrs. Kulp was elected president and Mrs. Thompson as secretary. Another meeting will be held Monday night in the music room of the high school, to which anyone interested is invited.

During the evening Misses Frances and Wilma Kulp gave several solos. There were about fifteen volunteer song leaders present. R. E. Tucker, the new Glendale Community Service executive, presided as temporary chairman.

MACHINES COLLIDE

Fred A. Tarr, 246 North Jackson street and W. J. Hogan, 317 East Elk, were driving automobiles that collided at 8 o'clock this morning at the intersection of California and Central. The righ wheel of the trailer owned by Mr. Tarr was broken.

Automobiles driven by Sarah Schofield, 203 West Hartsook, of Eagle Rock, and George T. Brewster, address not known, came together yesterday in Glendale. The damage was slight.

COAL TRUST PROBE

WASHINGTON, March 3. (A. P.)—In a proceeding described at the department of justice as "the first step to bring about the dissolution of the anthracite coal trust ordered by the supreme court," Attorney-General Daugherty today ordered filed in the United States District Court at New York a decree for separation of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company from its coal subsidiaries.

BONUS LINE WAITS UPON EQUIPMENT

Power House Machinery to Be Completed in Few Months

FACTORIES ARE BUSY

Work Is to Be Hurried to Meet the Fall Plans

Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the city hall an examination of the records of the Glendale-Montrose railroad was made by Mr. Eddy, examiner for the railroad commission, who also took some testimony relative to the contention of the company it has been losing money on its through freight business. It has been operating under an established through rate on certain commodities in connection with other roads. It has asked the commission to grant it a larger proportion of that through rate. If this is granted it will not affect the patrons of the road at all; it will be simply a different division of the freight rates between the Glendale-Montrose and other lines.

The evidence secured by Mr. Eddy will be referred to the commission and it is hoped that body will render a decision inside of two weeks.

P. L. Hatch, superintendent of the Glendale-Montrose railroad, states that the $25,000 bonus pledged to secure the electrification and extension of the line to connect with the yellow carline of Los Angeles, has now all been collected in cash or secured by notes. The company is therefore in a position to go ahead with the project.

It had hoped that no Los Angeles franchise would be required, but it finds that such a franchise will be necessary to cover the territory between the terminus of the yellow line and the Glendale city limits. It now finds that such a franchise will be required, but Mr. Hatch says it will be a mere matter of detail and red tape, there is no reason to fear its denial.

As to the date at which actual construction of the line can begin, that has not been set. The company finds that factories in the east which are now very busy will not promise power house equipment under five or six months. At the time the project was started they were not busy and would undertake to fill orders in three or four months. However, Mr. Hatch hopes they can be persuaded to hurry a little and provide it sooner than they have indicated.

LICENSE PLATES MUST BE ON MACHINES

Owners Will Be Arrested After March 10, Says the Chief

All motorists driving machines in Glendale without the 1923 license plates after March 10 will be arrested, according to a statement issued by Chief of Police Fraser this morning. This action was taken by Mr. Fraser as a result of the receipt of the following letter from W. H. Marsh, chief of the division of motor vehicles:

"The registration period of 1923, prior to the assessment of the penalty, closes March 2. We expect to have all work in hand cleared from Sacramento and the branch offices of the department within a week from that date.

"I would advise all police departments at this time to admonish motorists who are running on 1922 plates that they should make remittances of license fees to Sacramento or apply at branch offices and make registrations.

"I would suggest that enforcement of the law as to non-registration commence about March 10."

WHAT HE SAYS

Southern California: Tonight fair and colder; Sunday fair and warmer; light frost; moderate northwesterly winds.

WASHINGTON, March 3. (A. P.)—Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday is for Pacific states: Generally fair in Southern California and occasional rains elsewhere. Temperatures near normal.

FIRE LADDIES TO HAVE BENEFIT AT THE GLENDALE

Through the enterprise of William Howe, manager of the Glendale theatre, the fire laddies of this city are to have a benefit and Glendalians are to have the privilege of seeing the outstanding photo-dramatic sensation of the century—"The Third Alarm"—which had such an unprecedented run at Grauman's theatre in Los Angeles. It is one of the first pictures outside of Paramount productions ever to be run at that house and instead of being on the screen for but one week, the demand to see it was so great it was continued for two weeks.

Here, as in Los Angeles, it will be put on with an "atmospheric prologue" which will be thrillingly realistic and which will be presented by our own fire laddies with equipment furnished by the Los Angeles fire department, similar to that used in the Los Angeles prologue. Fire Chief Scott of Los Angeles is also providing a "three-horse hitch" to be used for street advertising of the performance.

The men of the fire department of our city are tremendously interested because Manager Howe is dividing with them whatever profit may be realized from the production, which is to run Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 4, 5, 6 and 7. The prologue will be used at all the evening performances and at the Tuesday matinee.

"The Third Alarm" is an F. B. O. attraction, starring Ralph Lewis. It depicts the work of a great fire department in action under the most thrilling plot conidtions and is one of the greatest exhibitions of realism the screen has ever provided.

Prices will remain as usual and no tickets will be sold outside the box office. The returns the Glendale fire company receives will go to its sick benefit fund and be practically a donation on the part of Mr. Howe, though the laddies will co-operate in the prologue mentioned. This will depict life in an old-fashioned engine house and will be personally directed by Blix and Rockwell of the local force, assisted by other members of the company. The full cast will be:

Dan, an old fireman..George H. Blix
Captain, in charge of quarters ..... Jack Rockwell
Deacon, a fireman....Dean Williams
Al, a fireman.....Albert Psenner
Checkers, a fireman....Harry Elliott
Frog, a mechanic.....Al Moniot
Hoy, a fireman..... Jack Goode
Harmony, a fireman..Jack Wagnon
Margie, Dan's daughter..... Helene Attel
Lopez, a mascot ..... By Himself

Specialties presented during the action:

"Dear Old Pal".....George H. Blix
Instrumental numbers.
Old time melodies and novelties by "The Fire Laddies' Quartette"—Goode, Blix, Wagnon, Rockwell.

POLICE TRACE STILL TO ROSCOE

The 100 gallons of whiskey that was captured a few days ago by Officer Nunn of the Glendale police force, was secured by Frank Oelino of Los Angeles, at the large still at Roscoe, that was raided Friday night by officials of the sheriff's office by the Glendale police department.

The message states that the still captured last night was one of the largest booze manufacturing outfits raided in this section for months.

SHRINE CALLS ON ALL MEMBERS TO ASSEMBLE

Committee on Quarters to Submit Plans March 7

At the next meeting of the Shrine club of Glendale, to be held on Wednesday evening, March 7, at 7:30 o'clock in the Pearl Keller hall, 109 North Brand boulevard, the special committee for quarters for the club will submit a proposition to the members. It is the request of the officers that all members attend. The entertainment committee is arranging a smoker with program and refreshments will also be served during the evening.

Reports of the committees will be made at this meeting and it is expected that a final report on the Shrine club show will be in order by then. The matter of holding a Shriner's banquet for Nobles and their ladies in the very near future will also be considered.

ELECTRICAL CONTRACT OF HI AWARDED

Glendale Resident Is the Low Bidder by $1000

CLOCK BIDS OPENED

Bidders Are to Be Given Opportunity to Explain Merits

At 2 o'clock Friday afternoon bids were opened at Glendale High on electrical work and program clocks for the new plant at Verdugo Road and Broadway as follows:

Electrical Work

M. E. Ryan, $47,000.00, Alternate No. 1, $525.00; Alternate No. 2, $87.50. Certified check, $2400.

American Electrical Construction company, $34,852.00; Alternate No. 1, $302.00; Alternate No. 2, $20.00; bond, $2000.00.

Hall & Son, $32,852.00; Alternate No. 1, $520; Alternate No. 2, $90; bond, $2000.

J. A. Newton Co., $33,277.00; Alternate No. 1, $358; Alternate No. 2, $39.

Program Clocks

E. H. Abbott, $5422.00; Alternate No. 1, $18; bond, $300.

Pacific Electric Clock company, $3498.00; Alternate No. 1, 13.50; certified check, $400.

After the bids had been opened the board of trustees went into executive session to check them over with Architect George Lindsay, and awarded the contract for electrical work to the low bidder, Hall & Son of Los Angeles, Mr. Hall being a resident of Glendale on North Columbus avenue.

No award was made on program clocks for the reason that all the bids were on different systems which the board will investigate before letting the contract. At its next meeting on Tuesday representatives of the bidders will appear before it to explain the features of the systems they represent and the board will check up on the merits of each. The Pacific Electrical company was the lowest bidder.

DIVORCE MADE EASIER

LONDON, March 3. (A. P.)—It is likely to be soon just as easy for a woman to get a divorce in England as for a man. The House of Commons, by a vote of 231 to 28 has passed the second reading of a bill under which it will be no longer be necessary for a wife to allege cruelty or desertion in addition to infidelity.

REGISTRATION OF AUTOS NOT TO BE PRINTED

Telephone Service on Stolen Cars to Be Used

No printed automobile registration lists will be issued by the department of motor vehicles of California in 1923, according to a letter received by Chief Fraser this morning. In its place a telephone service from the various branches of the department will be maintained.

If an automobile is stolen or found in Glendale, the local police will, instead of consulting the printed registration list, call up the branch of the motor vehicle department in Los Angeles and secure the desired information there.

Following is the letter received on this subject from W. H. Marsh chief of the division of motor vehicles of California:

"The department of motor vehicles will not print a registered directory of automobiles in 1923. In lieu of that list it has extended its telephone service in Sacramento to a 24-hour day. It expects to render a 24-hour servcie for the southern end of the state from the Los Angeles office in the very near future.

"In the meantime all the records of the office will be available by telephone or telegraph to police officials of the state desiring information of any character whatsoever. Tolls and telegraph charges must be met by the sender."

GRIPPE BEATS WILLARD

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 3. (A. P.)—Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion boxer, was in a local hotel today suffering with a slight attack of the grippe.

LEGION MEMBERS ENTERTAINED BY BOY SCOUTS

Troop No. 88 Put on Surprising Program Before Veterans

Members of the Glendale Post, American Legion, had a great treat Friday night in a program put on by Troop No. 88 of Los Angeles, Boy Scouts of America, under Scoutmaster Fred Letten, aided by Assistant Scoutmaster Jack Sugars; Eagle Scouts Douglas Moore, Harper Olmstead and Fred Davies; Life Scout Henry Hunter, and Second Class Scouts Howard Hoffer and Oliver Folsom.

About forty scouts were present, all from Los Angeles, and Past Commander Dru Nicoles presided over the session which was an open meeting.

The program included excellent orchestra numbers, exhibitions of signalling and of fire lighting by friction; two funny songs, "Slum" and "Scratch;" some funny games and a demonstration of fire aid work on a boy, whom Col. James Everington, member of the Verdug Hills Scout Council, had tagged for supposed injuries. After reading the tag the boys went to work to render the aid that would be called for in such a case in a highly efficient manner. They also demonstrated firemen's lifts and artificial respiration methods. The program closed with the recitation of the scout oath.

The Glendale Post has undertaken to be the big brother of a boy scout troop of which Eugene J. Wix is leader. But Mr. Wix was unable to be present as he is in the Golden State Hospital undergoing treatment which may keep him there for several weeks.

TUESDAY PLAY REHEARSALS NOW UNDER WAY

Drama Section Meets at the Home of Mrs. A. M. Hunt

The members of the drama section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. R. E. Chase is curator, met yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. M. Hunt, 205 East Acacia avenue. The business session was preceded by a rehearsal of the play "Women of History," which is to be presented at the Tuesday Afternoon club's "husbands' night" at the new club house on March 13. The reading of Tolstoy's "Redemption" was completed by the members and later three one-act plays were discussed. There were about 25 members present.

At the close of the business meeting refreshments were served. Mrs. Hunt was assisted by Mrs. Genevieve Goss. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. C. Vandewater, when a resume of the late Broadway plays will be given.

MRS. PIERCE IS MADE HEAD OF WHITE SHRINE

At the regular meeting of Omar Tent No. 9, White Shrine of Jerusalem, at Masonic Temple, Glendale, last night, with Mrs. Orma V. Naudain in charge, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Evelyn Pierce, worthy high priestess; D. Ripley Jackson, watchman of the shepherds; Mrs. Fern Roberts, noble prophetess; Mrs. Maude A. Smith, worthy scribe; Mrs. Mabel Richardson, worthy treasurer; Mrs. Nanna Custer, worthy chaplain; Mrs. Olga Bourne, worthy shepherdess; Mrs. Sarah F. Leland, worthy guide. These officers will be installed at the meeting on April 6. The remainder of the session was devoted to routine business.

KIWANIS O.K.'S BONDS IN SCHOOLS

Superintendent White Makes Eloquent Plea for Issue

PART TIME FEARED

Congestion of Present to Be Increased by the City's Growth

By W. L. TAYLOR

The Kiwanis club at its noon luncheon yesterday was addressed by Richardson D. White, supervising principal of the Glendale public schools upon the necessity of voting bonds to provide better school facilities. Mr. White has made a careful study of the school situation in Glendale and is able to give the public the true situation as it exists today. The crowded condition of the schools is appalling and something must be done at once if the patrons do not want the teachers to resort to the "last chance," namely—only one half day of school for half of the children.

"I know the Kiwanis club is working for good citizenship," said Mr. White, "and there is no better way than to start with the child. Next to the home I consider the public school wields the greatest influence," continued Mr. White, "and we are face to face with the need of providing the children with an education or turning them away. If we have to go to the half-day school proposition for the children it will work a great hardship on them. While half of the children would be in school the other half would be running the streets, and when they reached school in the afternoon would be unfit for study.

"The city you are building here is not for yourself," said Mr. White. "How important then it is that we look to the future. The children we are educating now will pay the taxes and bonds of the future and we owe it to them to give them a good education.

"The average daily attendance of the public school is a good index as to your population. Take the attendance and multiply the number by ten, and you get the population of any city. We have 3,500 children and multiplying by ten gives us 35,000 population. This is very close to correct.

"The bond issue will provide for improvements that must be made at once if the people do not want us to go to the half day school. The attendance in school has grown 178 percent while our percent in school improvements has been only 78. We are away behind and as a result have had to use every available space for the schools. We do not plan to build new schools, but to enlarge the present plants. The $500,000 bond issue will provide the necessary improvements and relieve the congestion for several years," concluded Mr. White.

The Kiwanis club is heartily in favor of the movement and will do all in its power to put the bond issue over. The election will be held Thursday, March 15.

The club was glad to see DeLos Smith back after an illness extending over several weeks. Each Kiwanis present also remembered E. C. Pendrov who is confined with the "flu" by sending him a postal card.

Ed N. Radke, the popular jeweler, gave the silent boost in the form of 6-inch rulers, while Goode & Belew gave an order for the cleaning of one suit, and Jack Cook gave a big box of chocolates as the attendance prize. Fred Deal reported that the Glendale club was one out of only three clubs in California which had made a record of 100 per cent.

President Ferguson made it plain that he expected all the committees to function, and each chairman was asked to get his committee in working order.

Park Commission Selects L. T. Rowley as Its President

L. T. Rowley was elected president and Dr. Jessie A. Russell was selected as secretary of the Glendale park commission at a meeting of that body at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the office of Dr. Jessie A. Russell. The members present were L. T. Rowley, L. H. Wilson, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Val Hollister and Dr. Calderwood.

The organizing of the commission was the only business transacted, although a general discussion of the park situation in Glendale was held.

The commission decided to meet at Dr. Russell's office next Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, when a tour of the various parks of the city will be made.

TEACHERS HEAR OF GOVERNOR'S BUDGET

Executive Secretary of the State Teachers Speaks Here

Some very important and interesting points were brought out by Mr. Thurston, executive secretary of the California Teachers' Association, Southern Section, at the meeting of Glendale teachers which he addressed Wednesday afternoon in Glendale High.

The governor's budget for the schools of California, now before the state legislature, was the theme of his talk. He showed that whereas the state of Pennsylvania, with a deficit of twenty odd millions of dollars, under its newly elected governor, Gifford Pinchot, cut its educational budget only 6 percent, the state of California, with an actual balance in the treasury and with a possible addition to that balance of $5,000,000, now tied up in litigation through the action of public service corporations, is cutting its state educational budget 46 percent. This cut, he showed, will not affect the state apportionment for the various elementary and high schools districts of the state for the reason that this apportionment is provided for in the constitution of the state, and therefore cannot be cut. It does, however, affect, he declared, every phase of the state department of education, including serious cuts in the budgets of all normal schools and state teachers' colleges. For example, in the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction two assistant superintendents out of four have been eliminated and five supervisors of special departments, leaving the superintendent himself, one assistant superintendent, a deputy superintendent and three commissioners. The salaries of the three commissioners have been cut, one of them almost in half.

This means, he indicated, the entire elimination of the state departments of physical education, agriculture, Americanization, home economics and manual training. In other words there will be no state supervision of those special branches of work.

He stated it is alleged by the supporters of the budget that the remaining officers in the State Superintendent's office can supervise these special departments which he argued is impossible both because of the amount of work involved and because they are not experts in these lines but are rather general educational experts.

The provision for office expense, such as the employment of clerks and stenographers is only sufficient to maintain one office, Mr. Thurston declared, and therefore the Los Angeles headquarters of the State Board of Education will have to be eliminated.

He pointed out that the effect on the normal colleges would be very serious in that the budget reduces the salaries of the regular instructors so that they would get less than the average high school teacher of the state, and the maximum would be only a little above that of elementary teachers in cities like Pasadena and Los Angeles. The maximum salary for elementary teachers there is $2,000. The maximum allowed normal school teachers in the governor's budget is $2200. The putting through of such a budget would necessarily eliminate the best teachers in the schools, Mr. Thurston contended, and weaken the efficiency of the schools. The presidents of normal schools have salary cuts ranging from $500 to $1700, he said, and the training schools where normal students have opportunity to teach under the supervision of experts, are eliminated entirely.

The University of California, including the Southern Branch, is not so drastically cut, he said, as some other departments of the state educational system, but has had its budget considerably reduced, so it will not be able to relieve the conditions under which it has been suffering for years past.

The speaker emphasized the fact that at this time, when California is experiencing the greatest growth in population in its history and the departments are greater than ever before, the budget is making a cut almost unprecedented in any other state.

He referred to the fact that at the last institute Mr. Bonner, who was one of the lecturers and who was formerly connected with the Bureau of Education in Washington, gave the institute the benefit of a study he had made of the state school systems of the United States, in which he showed that using fifty different points for scoring, the school systems of the state of California ranked No. 1, or in other words represented the finest school system in the country.

Mr. Thurston declared under the cut provided for in the budget, it would be utterly impossible for California to maintain that place.

CHAPTER B. A. OF THE P. E. O. ELECTS OFFICERS

At the regular meeting of Chapter BA, P. E. O., held at the home of Mrs. Nell Ayars, 315 North Orange street Friday the following officers were elected: Mrs. Edith Arnold, president; Mrs. Josephine Brant, vice-president; Mrs. Hallie Stamps, recording secretary; Mrs. Effie Preston, corresponding secretary; treasurer, Mrs. Alice Ripley; chaplain, Mrs. Nellie Case; guard, Mrs. Florence Wintersgill. Delegates to state convention, Mrs. Edith Arnold and Mrs. Eva Cunningham; first alternate, Mrs. Florence Wintersgill; second alternate, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown.

Following the annual business meeting these officers were installed by the retiring president, Mrs. Stamps. Luncheon was served at noon. Mrs. Ayars was assisted as hostess by Mrs. Eva Cunningham and Mrs. Madeline Kelley. The program for the afternoon was "Remembrance Day." Letters were read from the absent members of the chapter. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Beryl Cross, 329 Pioneer Drive.

SANTA MONICA

Venice Recall Petition Circulated

SANTA MONICA, March 3. (A. P.)—Rumors of a recall against the Venice city trustees because of opposition to a municipal charter at the recent election was definitely established today when it was learned that a petition had actually been drafted and received a number of signatures, although not openly circulated. The paper was against Mayor John G. Harrah.

Would Abolish Speed Traps

SANTA MONICA, March 3. (A. P.)—Speed traps will be abolished in California in an amendment to the motor vehicle law to be introduced in the near future by Assemblyman Hugh R. Pomeroy, of Redondo, if adopted by the legislature.

At the Santa Monica city hall, where Pomeroy called today to confer with the municipal commissioners, he declared to prevent violations should be the objective of the law.

To Compel Work on Coast Highway

SANTA MONICA, March 3. (A. P.)—Mandamus proceedings to compel the state highway commission to complete the coast highway from Oxnard south through Ventura county and the Malibu ranch to Santa Monica has been proposed to the city council. Mayor S. L. Berkley unofficially sanctioned the idea by declaring that such a course was entirely legal, right and proper, and would be resorted to if necessary by this city.

MAYBE ONE OF GELNDALE'S BURGLARS

SANTA MONICA, Mar. 3.—(A. P.)—Talbott Linnustruth, confessed burglar, who is charged by the police with twenty-two robberies, was taken yesterday to the superior court in Los Angeles for a hearing on his petition for probation. He is credited with burglaries in Redondo, Hollywood, and other cities in Southern California.

OIL EXCITEMENT AT HIGH PITCH

SANTA MONICA, Mar. 3.—(A. P.)—With rumors that a test well will be sunk in the Pico boulevard and Central avenue district within the next thirty days and reports that many new leases are being signed daily, the oil furor in this city has reached fever pitch.

The reports that both the Standard and the Wilshire Oil companies have secretly been binding up leases in this section of the country for more than two weeks is accepted as prima facie evidence of oil pools in this vicinity.

DOG BITES TWO

SAN PEDRO, March 3. (A. P.)—A collie dog was killed by police officer C. A. Bolter late yesterday after it had bitten Maud Berantz and Helen Watson, Wilmington children, and chased others inside. The head has been sent to Los Angeles for examination, fearing rabies.

WANT WHITE COLONISTS

LOS ANGELES, March 3. (A. P.)—The Mexican government desires "to give the best facilities for agricultural colonists of the white race" who desire to settle within the territories of the Southern Republic, according to a circular letter received by L. Garza Leal, Mexican consul in Los Angeles.

Five Years Jail For $97,000 Robbery

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 3. (A. P.)—James Martin was sentenced to serve five years in the state penitentiary for complicity in the $97,000 robbery of messengers of the Drovers National Bank last December.

PASADENA

One Hundred Percent Clubs to Meet

PASADENA, March 3. (A. P.)—Extending an invitation to all One Hundred Per Cent clubs in Southern California to meet here in joint session in April the Pasadena One Hundred Per Cent club today prepared to follow up its invitation with plans for the entertainment of the visitors. Special music, automobile tours and other forms of entertainment are being arranged.

Novel Idea in Tagging Students

PASADENA, March 3. (A. P.)—Instead of tagging students at the high school next week, members of the faculty will untag them. On Monday every student will wear a tag. It is to be "good posture week." If the student does not stand erect, head up, chest high, abdomen in, toes straight ahead and arms swinging naturally at sides, his tag will be confiscated.

Awards will be made to the students who possess a tag for every day of the week. The plan is being put into effect by the physical department of the high school.

Gas Is Gas Wherever Found?

PASADENA, March 3. (A. P.)—It would have been all right if their car hadn't run out of gas. Also it was midnight, and inconvenient to secure gas. Confronted by this difficulty, J. R. McCullah and Arthur Kearney attempted to siphon gasoline from the tank of an autcmobile standing on the street, according to Police Officers Irving Coleman and Harry Hartung, who arrested them. They came here from Hollywood.

PASADENA, March 3. (A. P.)—That the appointment of Harry S. New, former senator from Indiana, as postmaster general by President Harding is an indication that the president will be a candidate for re-election in 1924, is the opinion expressed here today by ex-Senator William P. Jackson of Maryland, one of the two oldest members of the republican national committee. Jackson is at the Hotel Huntington.

THE FARM BUREAUS

"The Farm Bureau in its work has dealt with all the factors influencing farm life, including production, economics, education and social life," said Dean E. C. Johnson of the State College of Washington to a farm bureau gathering at the Walla Walla Chamber of Commerce recently.

"It has stressed the first three, and especially the economic side. The agricultural experiment stations have of necessity first of all stressed production, because without it, there can be no permanent progress. Production is basic and will remain so always.

"The experiment stations have, however, done much work also in developing proper methods of farm management and farm organization, and an understanding of cost of production. Many of them have been active in studying farm marketing in order that they might be thoroughly informed as to all steps involved in bringing farm produce from the producer to consumer, the cost of marketing under different systems, and the right kind of organization for marketing purposes.

"This work has been a later development than that in production; it has been hampered somewhat by lack of trained personnel and available funds. Nevertheless, the majority of experiment stations have done some work along marketing lines, and when we examine the output of the entire experimental system of the country, it is large and of outstanding usefulness to the economic movements of today. Practically every station is now rendering some service along economic lines, and is eager to do more as funds become available and necessities require."

He was a very affable tramp.

"How do you do, mum?" he said. "You don't remember me?"

"No, I don't," said the thin-lipped housewife.

"I passed through here a little while ago, and you set the dog on me."

"Ah, yes—I remember now."

"Yes, mum—and as I cleared your fence I met a little man, who gave me half a dollar. He said it was worth that to find out that it wasn't safe for him to go home just then. He's coming down the road now, mum. Would you mind setting the dog on me again?"

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

HAIR AND HEADACHES

There isn't a reason in the world why your head should ache, unless—when did you have your hair brushed?" asked the visitor who had come to say "How do you do?" and remained the afternoon.

The woman to whom she was speaking was ill. She had been in bed a month and was just on the road to recovery and getting anxious to see her friends.

"Hair brushed? We just smoothe it over," said the sick woman. "You see Nellie has the housework to do, and since the nurse left I don't want to be an extra trouble, so I just smoothe my hair a bit on top. Every day I hope I'll get enough strength back in my arms to be able to hold the brush long enough to give it a good brushing. Perhaps that IS why my head aches."

Plays Role of Hair-Dresser

Nellie, the daughter, being at the moment downstairs, the visitor took off her hat determinedly.

"Now Hetty," she said, "I think I'll just play the role of hair-dresser for a while and see if we can't fix up that aching head. I'm right glad it wasn't MY talking to you that made it ache."

So she brought a brush and comb, a bottle of vaseline, some towels and tape. She settled her friend comfortably on several pillows and in a business-like way said: "If I hurt, just holler."

The invalid had no need to "holler," because her friend's hands were gentle at their task.

It was a tedious task because the hair was matted and tangled from constant turning and twisting on the pillows.

Spreading towels around Hetty's head and over the pillows, Mary Carr began, with patient fingers, to smoothe the snarls.

Headache Completely Disappears

After brushing gently for some time she was able to separate the hair into little strands that were smooth and untangled. She brushed always from the end of the hair up, and in time she had enough hair smooth to braid. She applied vaseline lightly. It helped to straighten the tangles. Little by little, as the hair became smooth, the bits were braided loosely and pinned out of the way. It was almost an hour before all the tangles were out, and Mary Carr insisted then that Hetty should have her head lowered for a few minutes' rest.

Then, with strong, cool fingers, Mary Carr gently massaged the tingling scalp and rubbed the muscles of the neck and shoulders. This was restful. Finally she applied scalp lotion to her friend's head and separated her hair into two parts which she braided and tied securely with tape.

THE HI-Y DISTRICT BANQUET SET FOR THURSDAY

On Thursday, March 8, the Glendale Hi-Y district will have its annual meeting and banquet at the First Methodist church at 6:30 o'clock, when the annual reports will be submitted. Dr. I. Frank Roach, pastor of the First Methodist church of Long Beach, who recently came from Oklahoma City, will be the main speaker of the evening and will give an address entitled "Boyville."

At this time there will also be a reunion of the two teams which were active in the financial campaign for the Y. M. C. A. last fall and which are headed by W. A. Horn and C. W. Ingledue.

REAL SMART SHOP OF DAINTY HATS TO OPEN

Announcing a very smart, exclusive hat shop, "The Marion Elizabeth Millinery Shop" will open in the Jensen's Palace Grand shops building at 133 North Brand boulevard on Monday, March 5. Smart sport hats, dress hats and clever models for women of discrimination will be featured. The women of Glendale are invited to visit the new shop. Miss Grace Gillett McCleery will be in charge.

MAKES GOOD MEDICINE

HANFORD, Calif., March 3. (A. P.)—To prove that the evil spirit no longer bothered his back and legs, Indian Bob, nearly 80 years old, an Indian medicine man, was still performing the strange rituals of his tribe when the sun rose yesterday morning. He had danced all night. Circled around him an admiring group of younger Indians had witnessed his all-night feat.

Santa Ana Has Y. M. C. A. Building Drive

SANTA ANA, March 3. (A. P.)—Whether Santa Ana will be called upon to subscribe an additional $50,000 for a proposed Y. M. C. A. building here, will be decided at an open meeting of the board of directors of the organization Monday.

The present building fund of $200,000 will be insufficient to complete the "Y" home here, according to the architect's plans, it was announced yesterday when contractors' bids were opened.

VAUDEVILLE AND CAREY AT THE GLENDALE

The Orpheus Comedy Four, consisting of a group of versatile comedians come to the Glendale theater for Saturday, March 3, as one of the features of a particularly well-arranged program. These comedians call their act "The Grouch Killers" and it is very aptly termed. The presentation consists of an assorted line of nonsense which has never failed to keep everyone in excellent humor. Conhoy & Leigh are comedy singing and talking artists. Their song numbers have the mark of originality with which they intermingle a variety of comedy which never fails to score. Jack and Flo Jackson are important factors on Saturday's bill. Jack and Flo appear as "The Boob and the Girl." This is a new vaudeville number that has built up a large following and is one of the big factors of the vaudeville stage on the coast. Evans & May will present a "Pleasing Pot Pourri." It is a novelty and jammed with clever material. Audiences everywhere have greeted these artists with enthusiasm because of their cleverness and appeal. Cecil North is a man that knows how to dance and dance well. He calls his specialty "A Dancing Oddity" and it includes all of the new steps of modern dances with just a touch of the eccentric.

Harry Carey's second super-Western released by F. B. O. and booked for showing at the Glendale theater tonight, affords the popular star a somewhat different type of characterization. In his portrayal, Mr. Carey has brought to the screen not the popular conception of what the West might have been years ago, but the true character and life of the West of today.

The story, "Good Men and True," is from the pen of Eugene Manlove Rhodes, a man who, like Mr. Carey really knows the phase of life he portrays. Today, Mr. Carey is one of the largest individual ranch owners in California and, though born in the city of New York, the son of a prominent jurist, he has spent the greater part of his life in the Far West.

The Right to Advertise

By FESTUS J. WADE
President Mercantile Trust Co. of St. Louis

I repeat I am prejudiced in favor of advertising, But I am not guessing. I have seen what it has been able to do.

Advertising is almost as necessary to the bank, particularly the one offering a diversified service, as it is to the department store.

It is a powerful force, and no one deserving the right to apply it to his business should be denied that right.

It is hoped that the full membership will come out.

On Thursday evening the auxiliary will be the beneficiary of an entertainment to be given by Mrs. Paul Brattain in the Pearl Keller studio, in which the program will be furnished by pupils. Officers of the auxiliary are asking for support of this program, which they say will be of the greatest interest.

BOLD MAIDEN NAMES
[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Women who cling to their maiden names after marriage are misguided, says George W. Wickersham, former attorney general of the United States, in a leter to the Lucy Stone league, which advocates the practice he condemns.

"I am firmly convinced that nothing more mistaken was ever advocated," he wrote. "Fortunately I was born in a generation when women thought it a glory to take the husband's name when they were married."

MANY DONATIONS IN FURNISHINGS FOR PARSONAGE

Mrs. N. J. Haynes, efficient chairman of the parsonage committee of the recently established Methodist Church South, which purchased the building that is to be vacated by the Glendale Presbyterian Church at Broadway and Cedar, reports liberal donations toward the furnishing of the parsonage. The largest cash gift thus far received is $100, the next largest is $60, and other amounts range from $25 to $5.

J. W. Robinson & Co., of Los Angeles, have donated a bathroom outfit, and another patron has given three rockers and one straight chair.

Rev. D. M. Barr, the pastor, will take possession of his new home at 706 East Harvard, on Tuesday, March 7.

TROPICO WOMEN HOLD BIBLE MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Bible Class of the Tropico Presbyterian Church was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. Russell, 336 Mira Loma avenue. Plans were made for the reception of new members of the church on Friday of next week, which will be in charge of the Women's Bible Class. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Russell was assisted as hostess by Mrs. McCurdy and Mrs. Croft.

BUSTER KEATON'S NEW COMEDY AT THE T. D. & L.

We never thought that Buster Keaton could ever make a comedy that would be very much better than "The Boat." At least not for a long time to come. But here he is at the T. D. & L. theater tonight in "My Wife's Relations," his newest First National release, a two-reel comedy that starts the laughs from the very beginning and doesn't give the laugher a chance to do anything else but laugh until the very end.

Buster we find is an innocent bystander, dragged into court by an irate Irish lady of considerable displacement, who accuses Buster of overdoing the innocent sport of hurling bricks. His accuser merely asks the judge to put an enjoiner on this pastime, but the judge has already received a telephone call from a couple asking him to stand by to perform the necessary work on the well known knot. The judge mistakes Buster and the stout lady of uncertain age for the couple seeking lifetime partnership, and performs the ceremony. Buster's protests get him nothing as the judge does not understand English.

Buster and his wife go home where the family awaits them. His new relations consist of a hand-picked collection of roughnecks. The roughest of roughnecks, in fact. Everybody takes a certain delight to make things pleasant for Buster until finally the hero is knocked colder than the man who was hit with a ring-post.

At this point the relatives find a mysterious letter on the person of the husband who is slowly reviving. It indicates that the owner of the letter is the legatee of no small fortune. The family then fights within itself to make things pleasant for Buster, until it is discovered that the letter didn't belong to him in the first place, and the wife's relations go up in arms—but so does Buster.

Bebe Daniels and "The World's Applause" will open Sunday.

MISS RUPP IS THE HONOREE AT SHOWER

Miss Thelma Rupp was the honoree at a party and miscellaneous shower given Thursday night by Mrs. W. M. Litchfield of 316 East Chestnut street. Games which involved the preparation of words of advice to and recipes for the use of the bride-to-be were played, and at the close of the informal social evening refreshments, dainty in all their appointments, were served by the hostess and the gifts were presented.

Miss Rupp, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rupp of 712 Orange Grove Avenue, is to become the bride of Clifford Cox of Pasadena, March 14. The wedding will be celebrated in the Glendale Presbyterian Church with Rev. W. E. Edmonds officiating. The acquaintance began in the University of Washington of which both are graduates.

TREND OF FASHION

BY HELEN MERRILL EMERY

Spring is here in spirit and although the fashionable world still goes wrapped in furs there are unmistable signs of the lure of spring fashions. Here a smart hat of silk and straw, there one of the new short coats worn over a pleated frock, proclaim to the initiated in clothes lore that the rumors of styles have crystallized in fashion facts.

On all sides the new millinery appears and there are several dominant tendencies. One is the decided feeling of medium-sized hats. Another is the exceedingly short line in back. Brims are often irregular and an almost exaggerated droop on one side is very noticeable. This gives a line that is youthful as wel as smart. Poke and mushroom shapes are still extremely popular.

As always, many of the earliest hats are all black. After all there is nothing really smarter than a black hat and those new models with their chic trimmings of ribbon, of peacock feathers dyed black, and cleverly arranged veils are a most satisfactory answer to the demand for a first hat which shall be smart as well as somewhat conservative.

When it comes to colored hats there are certain shades of tortoise, of a rich golden tone, neither orange nor biscuit, but somewhat between these two, and many varied shadings of green, sable, and red.

As an illustration of the spring trend in millinery four exceptionally good models are shown. At the top is a dashing, picturesque affair of golden orange straw. It is trimmed with moire gros grain ribbon the same tone, and apples and chessies whose tints repeat the same flattering colors. In back the brim is sharply turned back, giving the very short line. Next comes a smart little model decorated with a spreading circular ornament at the side.

Delightfully alluring is a third model which exploits the effective use of a 'short veil.' This is of black straw, with a huge red rose holding the veil in place at one side. Completing the group is an unusually chic hat made of black milan. It has for trimming great sweeps of dyed peacock, which bear a close resemblance to aigrettes and are most effective.

Hats Which Illustrate Spring Styles

Have You Noticed How the "Ads" --Both Display and Classified--Are Increasing in the Glendale Press?

"THERE'S A REASON"

1st—The Glendale Daily Press has over 2,000 More Circulation than any other Paper Circulating in Glendale.

2nd—The Glendale Daily Press has a Progressive Policy. It is not controlled by any clique or set of men. It speaks straight from the shoulder. Its aim is to serve the best interests of the community without favoring any interests or individuals. In other words, —which is expressed Daily in its editorial columns. It is forging ahead, because the people like it—they know it is watching their interests and will do all in its power to protect the welfare of Glendale.

THE GLENDALE DAILY PRESS IS AN INDEPENDENT PROGRESSIVE NEWSPAPER WITH BACKBONE AND A DEFINITE POLICY

NO GREEN GOODS HERE!

The Circulation of the Glendale Daily Press is operated upon the Little Merchants Plan, which insures a bona fide paid circulation, that is far ahead of the newspaper which allows its subscriptions to "run as long as you wish and pay when you will."

We believe that our advertising columns offer the best medium for presenting the message of Glendale merchants, because we reach the most people. We have editions for Eagle Rock and Burbank. Three daily newspapers with an advertising rate that is not high enough for one daily paper.

Here are the sworn statements required by the government from both Glendale Daily Papers:

THE FACTS IN A NUTSHELL:

GLENDALE DAILY PRESS 4,985
SECOND NEWSPAPER 3,336

GLENDALE DAILY PRESS LEAD OVER SECOND NEWSPAPER. 1,649

But, Dear Reader, since the statements were published in October, THE GLENDALE DAILY PRESS has added 715 READERS TO ITS LIST and its circulation now exceeds the sworn statement of the second paper by 2364. Growing some in three months, you say. Well, you're right. Watch us grow during 1923. Watch the advertising columns grow. Glendale has live, progressive merchants and they are using the advertising columns of the Glendale Daily Press to send their message to the people.

Deaths and Funerals

MRS. MARGARET QUINN WOOD

The many friends here of Mrs. J. L. Wood of East Broadway and of Mrs. W. R. Sullivan of San Francisco, formerly of Glendale, will be grieved to learn of the death of their mother, Mrs. Margaret Quinn Wood, which occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan.

Had Mrs. Wood lived until April she would have been 69 years old. She suffered a stroke of paralysis just a few days prior to her death on February 17, 1923. The body will be held in a vault until it is placed with that of her husband, the late Ambrose A. Wood, in the family plot in Utah. Mrs. Wood was a devout Catholic and had all the rites of her faith before her death.

The deceased leaves five children and five grandchildren: Mrs. J. L. Wood of Glendale, Mrs. W. R. Sullivan of San Francisco, Mrs. R. B. Kenyon of Yakima, Wash.; D. H. Wood of Marshfield, Oregon; and A. B. Wood of Yakima, Wash.

CHARLES ABRAMS

Charles Abrams passed away February 28, 1923, at 4346 Perlita avenue, age 52 years. He is survived by a widow. Funeral services will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the Little Church of the Flowers, with interment at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. I. G. Scovern Undertaking company in charge.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE

(As Told by the Nurse)

That is your father, dear
Just going out the door;
Oh, he's been living here
For seven years or more!
In business he's so deep
He has no time to fret
With little girls, but keep
Up hope—we'll meet him yet!

That is your mother, dear,
Just getting in the car,
She knows that you are here
And also who you are!
But what with clubs to meet
And bridge to play, you see,
With hours so short and fleet
She's turned you o'er to me.

But there, my dear, don't fret,
Or let those blue eyes blur,
Some time I know you'll get Acquainted, too, with her.
Why, sometimes, in the night
When angels vigil keep,
She asks if you're all right
And when you went to sleep!

I think you'd like them both,
I think they'd both like you,
But what with "higher growth"
And many things to do
They're simply rushed to death,
But there, my dear, don't cry,
If they should stop for breath
We'll meet them bye and bye.

'GLENDALE' NAME PLATE DRIVE IS BIG SUCCESS

Chamber of Commerce Circulates Its Membership

The drive for free advertising for Glendale through the adoption of name plates on all cars is reaping fruit in the display of new "Glendale" signs on cars seen today. The busines houses have adopted the idea generally.

The following letter is being sent to every member of the chamber of commerce by the advertising and publicity committee:

"Have you noticed the 'Glendale' name plates on the autos around town?

"There has been a run on 'Glendale name plates' and one dealer who had claimed he had a stock was sold out last week, while another had only four left on Saturday—but rush orders are bringing a fresh supply.

"The most popular suggestion for advertising 'Glendale' was the plan to start a movement to have residents of our city display the name 'Glendale' on their machines.

"Your committee immediately made a canvass of the situation with the result that other organizations endorsed the movement and the supply houses agreed to make a special sale price for name plates also license and name plate holders.

"We are now appealing to you for your support and co-operation in connection with this movement by calling the attention of your neighbors and friends to this form of advertising.

"There is no reason why 'Glendale, the fastest growing city,' should not be the 'best advertised city' in the Southland and it will rapidly attain this position if every Glendale resident who is proud of his city will equip his car with name plate.

"One of the leading motor car dealers has announced his intention to give away 1000 Glendale name plates to the users of his cars.

"At the next Kiwanis luncheon, the attendance prize will be a set of Glendale name plates given to every member present at the luncheon.

"The campaign started March 1 and will continue for ten days.

"Let us get the benefit of mass publicity by having five name plates bearing the name 'Glendale' on the road to one displaying the name of some other town."

CHARLES SKELTON IS HONORED BY HIS TOWNSMEN

The 79th birthday anniversary of Charles Skelton, 331 Fairview avenue, North Glendale, was a very delightful affair.

About 40 of his old townsmen of Postville, Iowa, gathered at his home Friday, March 2, for a picnic. They brought baskets with the good things that Iowans know so well how to prepare.

For 40 years and more Mr. Skelton was in business in the Iowa town. His guests at his birthday were young with the Skeltons.

Mr. Skelton is a Civil war veteran. He and his family have lived in Southern California for 15 years. He and Mrs. Skelton and their daughter, Lenora, have lived in Glendale four years.

The other daughter, Mrs. Helen Weideman, and family of Riverside were not present.

BELLHURST PARK, TRACT SUPREME, GOES ON MARKET TODAY

LATEST AND ONE OF THE LARGEST SUBDIVISIONS OPENED IN GLENDALE FOR INVESTORS' CONSIDERATION

Glendale Realty Buyers Are Being Given Initial Opportunity to Avail Themselves of the Choice Lots in First Unit of Thom Ranch

Bellhurst Park opens today with a special pre-public sale to Glendale people only, as a preliminary to a tremendous advertising and selling campaign starting in a few days over all of Southern California. The subdivision now offered is the first unit of the C. E. Thom estate, all of which will be placed on the market in the near future, by the Walter H. Leimert Co.

Glendale people have cast longing eyes at this beautiful property for many years, as it is practically the only untouched area left in the built-up section of the city. Its location is very close in, the southwest corner of the property being within six blocks of the business center of Glendale. Solidly built up blocks of fine homes immediately adjoin Bellehurst Park on the south and west and the Brand boulevard Pacific Electric trains pass within two blocks of the tract, offering twenty-minute service to the center of Glendale and to Los Angeles.

Bellehurst Park is destined to be one of the noted subdivisions of Southern California, according to Edward M. Lynch, who has planned the streets and layout of the tract. The best guarantee of the high type of development to be carried out is the fact that the entire scheme of Bellehurst Park is the work of the Walter H. Leimert Company. This firm is famous from coast to coast for the high character of properties that have been developed in Berkeley, Piedmont and Oakland under the Leimert organization.

Lakeshore Highlands in Oakland is the most noted of the highclass residence areas developed by the Walter H. Leimert Company. This tract resembles Forest Hills in New York, St. Francis Wood in San Francisco, Roland Park in Baltimore and Country Club Heights in Kansas City. Bellehurst Park in Glendale will be of the same distinctive character when completely developed.

Street work started yesterday under the supervision of E. W. Tuttle, head of the Los Angeles branch of Bates & Borland, Inc., one of the largest contracting firms in California. The best type of improvements will be installed at once, including paved streets, gutters, curbs, sidewalks, water, gas, electricity and telephones. Bates & Borland are now engaged in such important construction work as the new million-dollar memorial stadium at the University of California, the four-million dollar San Pedro dam and other important work of a similar nature. Their reputation insures the quality of the work to be done in Bellehurst Park. Bates & Borland have worked with the Walter H. Leimert Company in developing Lakeshore Highlands, the Piedmonts, Crocker Heights and similar tracts.

The name Bellehurst Park was chosen for this magnificent subdivision because it includes the best sections of the old Bellehurst ranch that has been in the Thom family for many years. The name Bellehurst Park means "beautiful grove," which is particularly appropriate for this area as it is covered with wonderful old bearing orange, lemon, grapefruit and olive trees. Many other varieties of ornamental trees border the foothills at the upper end of the property.

Approximately 32 acres are included in the first unit now offered to the residents of Glendale. It is the section nearest to the business center of the city and will be particularly valuable for that reason.

Tractors are now pulling up trees where necessary to open new streets, and street lines are indicated by plow only. It is planned to start the real selling and advertising campaign in a few days, when the work has progressed a little farther. In the meantime Gleendale people only will be allowed a special opportunity to select lots and make reservations at the two local offices of the Walter H. Leimert Company.

"It was felt that Glendale people deserved a little advance notice of the opening sale of this important tract," said Lawrence Block, yesterday, in discussing the sales plans of the Walter H. Leimert Company. "Glendale people have already indicated their faith in the future of this city by settling here and many of them will naturally welcome this chance to select the most desirable locations before the immense throng of outside buyers begins to arrive," said Block.

Appropriate restrictions protect absolutely the future value of Bellehurst Park, as no temporary buildings, duplex houses, apartments or other undesirable structures will be permitted. Other restrictions regarding set back from the street, minimum cost of homes, etc., will conform to the very best residential sections of Glendale. A very limited area in the southwest corner of the property has been set aside as a commercial center.

Opening prices, according to Lawrence Block, director of sales, are fully 30 per cent below the actual value of similar property in the built-up areas in adjoining blocks. Easy terms of payment can be arranged if desired.

A new tract office opens today on the property and a Glendale office has been permanently leased by the Walter H. Leimert Company at 246 S. Brand Blvd. at Colorado street. Sales representatives will be available at both offices every day, or they will call on Glendale people if desired when requested by telephone or letter.

PLANT TREE WEEK IS MARCH 4 TO 10

Arbor Day, March 7, is to be observed by all the schools in the state, and school officials are cooperating to make this week a memorable one in the beautification of public grounds in every community. Chancellor K. Grady, director of the movement, reports that he has been amazed by the eagerness with which the schools have taken up the campaign, requests having flooded his office from every county in California.

The State Highway Commission is recommending the Oriental plan for roadside planting, and in parks and public grounds the various coniferous trees are being largely used. In some parts of the state the black walnut, which is native to California, is being used with good results. The great extent of the state offers opportunity for a wide range of choice, and there are so many types of trees available that no difficulty will be found in securing trees suitable to the taste of the planter.

Memorial groves, which were very popular just after the war, are still being planted, and in many cases trees already set out and which have proved unsatisfactory for this purpose are being replaced. These groves add an element of beauty and sentiment to many communities, and their planting should be encouraged.

This is a good opportunity, also, to consider the planting of a home orchard. With the exception of the congested portions of our large cities there is plenty of room for a few fruit trees in the garden of the average homestead, and the pleasure and profit of such an orchard can be realized only by those who have them. Fruit fresh from the tree surpasses the fruit bought in the market, and when it is your own "vine and fig tree" it brings a satisfaction that must be experienced to be appreciated.

The people of California will not know the value of trees until the habit of planting them has become part of their lives. But the habit, once formed, brings so much pleasure and profit that it will never be given up. Try it and see.

THE FEIJOA HAS ORNAMENTAL VALUE

The Feijoa, also known as the pineapple guava, is one of the hardiest of the sub-tropical fruiting plants found in our local gardens.

It has been known to withstand, uninjured, a temperature of 15 degrees, and in places such as Santa Barbara will go through the summer without artificial watering.

Ordinarily, the shrub seems to prefer a light, sandy loam, rich in humus, although it also grows in heavy soils.

For most satisfactory fruiting results, the feijoa should receive about the same amount of water as is applied for citrus culture.

The plant is of shrubby habit, quick growing, and reaches an ultimate height of fifteen feet.

There seem to be different types, one of which is low and bushy, another rather high and loose in character of branching.

The latter type should be controlled by pruning.

The flowers are about an inch and a half broad and highly decorative, with petals white on the outside and purplish within, and brillian, crimson stamens that are very pronounced in appearance.

The flowers are of further interest in that their fleshy petals are good to eat.

The fruits are green in color, roundish or egg shaped, with a thin skin, firm flesh and a central mass of aromatic pulp within which are imbedded minutely small seeds.

The flavor is generally described as resembling that of both the strawberry and the pineapple, from which it acquires its name of pineapple guava.

The fruit is generally pleasing to eat from hand, and is commonly used for jellies, jams and as a stewed sauce.

It has a very marked and penetrating aroma of a pleasing quality.

The feijoa may be used in the decorative garden as a shrub for massing, in boundary plantations as an untrimmed hedge or screen.

It occasionally makes a pleasing specimen plant, if a compact type is selected.

Wilson Popenoe, agricultural explorer for our government, reports the following of one type of guava, the Guisaro, botanically known as Psidium molle, and belonging to the same family as the feijoa.

"This shrub from southern Mexico and Central America is now cultivated in a few gardens in Southern California," explains Mr. Popenoe. "The acid fruits, smaller than those of the Costa Rica guava, are used only for jelly making.

"The plant is of slender habit and rarely grows more than ten feet high.

"The young branchlets, peduncles and lower surfaces of the leaves are reddish-velvety. The leaves are oblong-oval, three to five inches long, obtuse at the base and rather stiff.

"The flowers, of which three are commonly borne upon each peduncle, resemble those of the common guava (P. Guajava).

"The fruit is round, about one inch in diameter, yellowish-green to pale-yellow, with whitish flesh, containing numerous small hard seeds.

"This is the chamach of northern Guatemala, often called guayaba acida in Spanish.

"In California it has proved to be hardier that P. Guajava and of simpler culture."

BUSINESS MAIL SERVICE TO BE CUT

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson has received a communication from the department at Washington, which has inspired him to give a note of warning to Glendalians as to what may happen to the service. The communication states that "auxiliary" allowance made by Congress is exhausted and therefore the Glendale office cannot use any more auxiliary help. Since the office was assumed by Mr. Jackson not a single regular carrier or clerk has been added to the force. All the additional employes have come under the head of "auxiliary help," for whom a separate allowance has to be secured each quarter. To date the office has received all the allowances asked for, but this quarter's allowance is being curtailed and the indications are that the next quarter's allowance will be cut out. It therefore may be necessary to eliminate the third delivery in the business district and limit deliveries in the residence sections to one a day.

FORWARD-LOOKING CITIZENS WILL MAKE WEEK OF MARCH 4-10 ONE TO HAVE FAR-REACHING EFFECT

Plant Another Tree Week Will Be Observed the Nation Over; the Man Who Looks Ahead Will Join This Important Move

A tree, a shrub or a flower planted for each person in America.

This is the keynote of a concentrated effort to be centered in a national Spring Tree Planting Week to feature the program of the "Plan to Plant Another Tree" movement early in 1923.

Tree Planting Week is a popular move to obtain the co-operation of each individual in getting the nation awakened on the subject of trees and shrubs and plants and flowers. In this work chambers of commerce, lodges, schools, churches, all civic and agricultural clubs, including the farm bureaus, can join with pleasure to themselves, and profit to the entire community.

People who love trees and like to see them planted are now looking forward to tree planting week with keen interest. Some years ago the agricultural department of Missouri started tree planting week. "Plan to Plant Another Tree" movement has made this event national.

Spring tree planting week will be scheduled at the proper time to plant trees and shrubs and flowers. It will not be the same date in all states. In the south tree planting week will be much earlier than in the central or northern states.

The best authority in each state is being obtained so that no tree planting will be scheduled to the disadvantage of the trees and shrubs and flowers, which are to be planted. In one state this may be in February or March, while in some of the states it must be as late as the first part of May. Not all of the planting can be done during a tree planting week. Some will plant before that date while many will plant after tree planting week. It is intended that everybody shall be busy planting something during tree planting week.

One of the principal programs of "Plan to Plant Another Tree" movement is to get a tree, a shrub, or a flower planted for each man, woman, and for each boy and girl, during tree planting week. Think what it will mean for America to have even one tree planted for each person in America.

Governors of states may proclaim tree planting week. Mayors of cities should support it by issuing proclamations. "Plan to Plant Another Tree" is interested in promoting tree planting week to secure the much needed shrubs, and trees, and fruits and flowers, so that America may be the Garden of the World.

Tree planting clubs in each community are as much needed as are commercial clubs or farmers' clubs. The purpose of these clubs is to promote the planting of trees and shrubs and flowers and to teach the care of these materials after planting.

The utter lack of knowledge on the part of the people is largely responsible for the failure of increased plantings. Tree clubs will help to educate the people on how to care for their plants. The reason therefore for a tree club is to increase plantings and to teach the care of plants after plantings are made.

These tree clubs are now being formed in many states. They may be formed as a part of a woman's club or chamber of commerce or a farm bureau or farmers' club. There is not expense. The whole purpose of the club is to carry out the program as outlined above. For further information address: Plan to Plant Another Tree, Aurora, Ills.

What has become of our family orchards? Look around the country today and you will find that no fruit trees are planted, or if there is an orchard it is in bad repute because it is very often used for a calf or pig pasture. The real good orchard with proper care is seldom seen.

Statistics tell us that the fruit trees of America are decreasing each year. The family orchard surely needs to be replanted and the people of America must be taught the proper care of home orchards. Prof. Bailey, we believe, is responsible for the statement that but 3% of the fruit trees planted ever come into bearing. Here is a big work for our universities, for agricultural colleges and especially for the farm bureaus, and farmers' clubs of America.

It is not fair to encourage people to plant more fruit trees unless those who know take a greater interest and teach the people of America. The kind and varieties to plant—how to plant—and how to care for the orchard after it is planted.

We are agree that the family orchard should be replanted and that now is the time to work as a unit to accomplish this great good. It is also exactly the time to teach the care of the fruit trees after planting.

No farm or even a home grounds is really complete without its fruit trees and berry patches. How pleasant it is for each member of the family to pick the ripe delicious fruit from home grown trees. We hear a great deal about keeping the boys and girls on the farm. A good orchard is a priceless treasure. Replant the home orchard—do it now!

Approximately 53,000 acres of small fruits have been lost within the last ten years. When we consider that health and happiness of our entire population is in some measure dependent on our small fruits we are surprised that men who know and realize that this is true have not already made strenuous efforts to secure the much needed plantings of small fruits.

No class of plants are easier to handle. They grow quickly and quickly respond to cultivation and kind treatment. Besides this, all these small fruits cost but little money and therefore are within the financial reach of everyone.

Strawberries ought to be on every home ground. Why buy the berries when just a few plants, even a hundred, will produce enough strawberries for an average family. That many plants can be set on most any city lot in the corner of the vegetable garden. Persons with larger sized property can plant more and the farmers can plant out several hundred.

Raspberries, both the red and black varieties, are easy to grow and produce an abundance of fruit the second year. This is also true of blackberries. Just a few plants of each of these fruits will make a fine display of both flowers and fruits and the berries will furnish nourishing food.

Gooseberries and currants also add to the food value. These are easily grown, require little care and give big returns.

The pie plant and asparagus have good food value and besides are indeed health giving materials. Some folks say that these two vegetables are better than medicine.

Small fruits are needed on every home grounds. They are easy to grow. The plants cost but little money. Any surplus can easily be sold for cash. A planting of small fruits will reduce the cost of living. They will furnish real pleasure in growing and will bring health and happiness and will help to make a more beautiful landscape.

It seems to us that as the small fruit plantings are constantly growing less and less, that it is the duty of every one to encourage the proper planting and care of small fruit patches, so that we may again point with pride to the fruit produced on all home grounds.

"Plant to Plant Another Tree" movement is not a year old and yet it has spread to all parts of the United States and Canada. Our platform is plant more trees and shrubs and flowers, and care for them after planting.

On this platform there is room for every one who is interested in making each community a better place in which to live.

The chambers of commerce all over the country have rendered valuable aid. The women's clubs have done nobly. Kiwanis, Rotary, and Lions clubs are all working to help "Plan to Plant Another Tree." The farm bureaus have rendered valuable aid and other nation-wide organizations have freely offered co-operation in this big, unselfish movement to make America the Garden of the World.

The press of America, both daily and weekly, have given wide publicity to our cause because all agencies recognize the great need of more trees and shrubs, and flowers, and that "Plan to Plant Another Tree" movement will awaken interest and secure the co-operation of all active organized efforts to accomplish the results desired.

WILLIE HOPPE, BILLIARD CHAMPION, TEACHING HIS SISTER HOW TO MASTER CUE AND IVORIES

Miss Vera Hoppe already plays an excellent game, but she has induced her champion brother to devote some of his time to perfecting her in the fine points. She has organized a stage women's billiard club in New York city and the club members expect exciting tournaments after they have learned more about the game. Willie is seen here showing her how to execute the difficult masse shot.

SPARR HEIGHTS GROWS WITH THE SPRING TINTS

Moutain Laurel in Bloom and the Poppy Fields Aflame

Spring is here and all nature is feeling the urge of awakening life. The buds of the pussy-willows by the streams and in the cienegas are beginning to swell, the fruit trees are in blossom, the mountain laurel is in bloom, the mustard patches and the poppy fields are showing great splashes of color, while hillside, slope and valley are a vivid green.

This is the loveliest season of the year in Southern California and in no section of this fair southland are its beauties more in evidence that at Sparr Heights in the favored Verdugo valley. In this vast tract of 1500 acres, with a most varied topography, one can enjoy every variety of scenic beauty.

The rugged, towering peaks of three great mountain chains can be compassed in all their majesty in one view from Sparr Heights. The wonderful oak groves and the secluded canyons invite one to pry into their quiet and seclusion. One can wander over the rolling hills on the many trails that wind through the mesquite and chapparal and breathe the pungent fragrance, so dear to the Californian, of the sage.

To those who are fond of hiking and know the joy of breasting the hillside, who love the view from the mountain crest, Sparr Heights presents attractions as a starting point, that are unequalled. On one side are the green Verdugo hills, commanding a view over Los Angeles, the San Fernando and Verdugo valleys. On the other side rise the rugged Sierras with trails leading into the Arroyo Seco and up to Mounts Lowe, Wilson, Markham, Islip and others.

Fortunate indeed is he who at this season can steal away from the cares of business and tramp into the open spaces where he can come into contact with the big things of nature and get an inspiration that he can secure from no other source.

RUM RUNNERS KILLED

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 3. (A. P.)—Ambushed by a federal posse about two and one-half miles out of Jellico, Tenn., tonight and apparently yielding to the command to surrender, four alleged rum runners decided to fight it out and flashed guns as the officers closed in and in a gun fight that followed three of them were shot to death, the fourth seriously wounded, while four possemen were struck by flying bullets.

GERMANS FIGHT

BERLIN, March 3. (A. P.)—Thirty persons have been wounded in a clash between Bavarian nationals and communists at Augsberg, in Bavaria, 35 miles northwest of Munich, says the Central News.

GLENDALE HEIGHTS BUYERS MAKE MONEY

"Over 95 per cent of the Glendale Heights purchasers are Glendale people, who know values in this section," said Mr. Haddock of the Haddock-Nibley company, 215 Hibernian building, Los Angeles, subdividers of that "wonder tract," this morning.

"Every purchaser of property in Glendale Heights is making money," continued Mr. Haddock.

"And money will be made in increasing amounts on every lot in this wonderful subdivision. Glendale is 'the fastest-growing' city in America. Think what that means to its property values! Glendale realty is the safest, surest investment open to you, and Glendale Heights is one of the choicest sections of Glendale!

"As home-seeker or as an investor you owe it to yourself to get acquainted with these marvelous values right now.

"Made up of the wonderful hilltop lots—every lot practically level, but commanding a view of the entire San Fernando valley—is now on the market. Surfaced winding driveways, curbing, gas, water—all investments fully paid.

"Slip a little money in your pocket and get out and see these 'wonder lots' right now. A small payment down and your money begins to work for you. But you must act NOW!"

COST OF JUSTICE IN STATE IS KEPT DOWN

Budget Shows Total of $,315,964 for All Courts

SACRAMENTO, March 3.—The cost of administering justice in California will not increase in the next biennium, although the business of the courts has grown with other state functions. The budget presented to the 1923 legislature by Governor Richardson and the Board of Control lists the following totals for the higher courts and their officers:

The Supreme Court	$261,630
First Dist. Court of Appeal	148,000
Second District Court	146,360
Third District Court	77,000
Superior Court (State's half of salaries)	673,914
Bar Examiners	8,210
Total	$1,315,964

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

Take a Little Salts if Your Back Hurts, or Bladder Is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you fel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keen the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

Practically everyone knows that property adjoining the various country clubs of Southern California has increased in value from 200% to 1000%. What happened to property adjoining the Flintridge, Wilshire, Los Angeles, Annandale and Brentwood Country Clubs is going to happen to these 141 Verdugo Woodlands homesites which adjoin the magnificent site of the Oakmont Country Club in Verdugo Valley—the little Switzerland of Southern California.

Here's a wonderful opportunity for both the homeseeker and investor. Many of the club members are going to be keenly interested in this subdivision—and there are not enough sites in it to supply one-fourth of the memberships. Here is the strong speculative feature of this limited offering.

Think of owning a beautiful homesite in this glorious evergreen valley—right next door to a fashionable country club.

This will be aristocratic property of character, class and refinement.

The Oakmont Country Club will be the most beautifully situated of all the clubs in Southern California—in the center of a scenic environment of Switzerlandic grandeur.

Almost anywhere in Verdugo Woodlands is beautiful and worth while—but these 141 lots adjoining the eighteen hole golf course are virtually the cream.

Go and price residence property adjoining any of the country clubs. Then compare them with our opening prices of $2300 and upward.

OFFICIAL O. K. FOR BENMAR HILLS TRACT

Strong impetus has been given to the development of Benmar Hills, in the western part of Burbank, through the fact that it has been given official recognition by that community as the logical field to accomodate its future growth.

Such official recognition has been given by the city of Burbank to Benmar Hills in a variety of ways. In the first place, the city secured a site in Benmar Hills upon which it has erected a $250,000 high school. Following this is the selection of a location, also in Benmar Hills, for the erection of a new grammar school. In addition, the city has accepted deeds to a 20-acre model civic center site, on which it is proposed to erect the city's postoffice, library, city hall and other public buildings, together with considerable acreage for a foothill park, athletic field and playgrounds, and auto park.

The city has also sanctioned the designation of streets and boulevards throughout Benmar Hills. These have been arranged by expert community builders in such a way as to provde a perfectly balanced arrangement of the city's various sections.

The lower section of Benmar Hills is traversed by San Fernando boulevard. It is here that the business section will be located. Announcement has been made that every site in the business section has been purchased. To the north of the boulevard lies the civic center and beyond that, covering the slopes, are various residential section, graduated according to their value in respect to building restrictions.

The development of Benmar Hills is being directed by the Southern California corporation, with offices in the Junior Orpheum building. In outlining the future of Benmar Hills, an official of the company said:

"There is no reason why the future development of Burbank should not be so carefully planned and controlled that it shall become a model American community of 100,000 people. It will contain a model civic center, plenty of wide boulevards, beautifully parked streets, location for a large university, conservatories of art and music, schools, churches, clubs and every other essential and beauty of a perfectly balanced city.

"The Southern California corporation is financed to carry on this development and is in a position to report marked success."

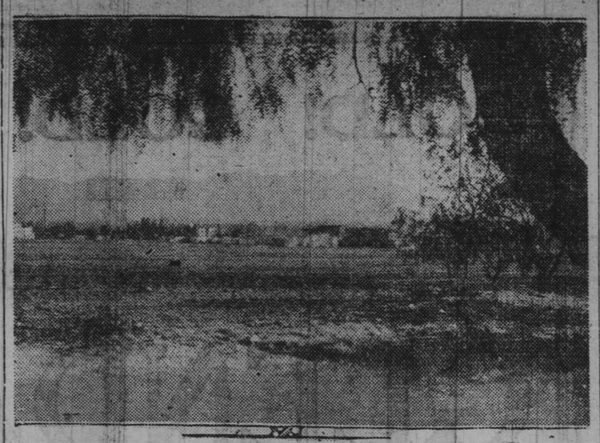
SCENE IN BENMAR HILLS



WHEAT FOR SPRING PLANTING

"Every spring someone makes the mistake of sowing the wrong variety of wheat," said E. F. Gaines, cerealist of the State College of Washington, over the radio broadcaster recently. "Often reports come in during June and July from farmers complaining that their spring wheat will not head out. It looks green and thrifty, but remains short, leafy and grass-like. They have made the mistake of sowing winter wheat in spring. A true winter wheat will not produce grain until it has gone through the short days and cold weather of winter.

"Often the farmer who complains that his fall wheat winter-kills badly has made a similar mistake, sowing the spring variety in the fall. Spring wheats generally will not stand the freezing and thawing and smothering by ice and snow as well as will the true winter wheats.

"The two principal spring wheats, Bluestem and Baart, are selling at such a premium on the market that it may be difficult to get seed for spring planting. It will be unfortunate if that is the case, for Baart is by far the best suited to the areas of light rainfall in the Big Bend country.

"At the dry-land station at Lind, where rainfall is less than 8 in., Baart has produced over 30 per cent more than either Bluestem or Marquis, in a 6-year average. Bluestem, on the other hand, has produced almost 8 per cent more wheat than Baart during the past 7 years, at the Pullman experiment station where the rainfall is over 20 in. In the intermediate region between these two stations, Marquis has found favor, although it yields slightly less than Bluestem and Baart at both stations. The seed of Marquis is plentiful and may be substituted without great loss where the rainfall ranges from 15 to 20 in.

"Nearer the mountains and in the more fertile areas of the Palouse country, Jenkin or Jenkin's Club as it is commonly called may be substituted for Bluestem to good advantage.

Both Marquis and Baart have a shorter growing period than Jenkin and Bluestem, and therefore mature earlier. If the spring is late so that planting is delayed, Baart might yield more than Bluestem in the Palouse country, although at Pullman in a 7-year average Bluestem has yielded 2.6 bushels the most. Certain varieties do better than others on poor soil.

"The best plan seems to be to decide on a good standard variety, keep the seed pure, and then continue to grow it year after year, as it is no easy matter to determine which variety will give the greatest returns, taking into consideration the rainfall, season, time of planting and soil conditions."

HEALING CREAM STOPS CATARRH

Clogged Air Passages Open at Once—Nose and Throat Clear

If your nostrils are clogged and your head stuffed because of catarrh or a cold, get Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head and membranes. Instant relief.

How good it feels. Your head is clear. Your nostrils are open. You breathe freely. No more hawking or snuffing. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up, choked up and miserable. Relief is sure.—Adv.

SUNSET GROVE IS SELLING OUT RAPIDLY

"We invite comparison of our tract. "Sunset Grove," said Mr. Hamlin of the firm of Hamlin & Hepburn, 203 West Broadway, "with any of the other subdivisions that are now being sold in or around Glendale, and we are confident that if such comparison is made our tract will get a little the best of the matter.

"All through the sale of our subdivision, Fairview, we had hundreds of calls for lots with trees on them, and also for lots on which temporary homes were not permitted. At last we are able to supply just such lots and at prices so low that there will undoubtedly be in a short time, remarkable increases in values.

The restrictions are from $300 to $3500, and no temporary houses are permitted. The location is ideal, being above Kenneth Road, below Tenth street, which is a main paved boulevard between Glendale and Burbank. It is one of the best locations in the rapidly growing northwest section, commanding an unsurpassed panoramic view of the whole valley. Water, gas and electricity are included in the prices asked.

"Full-sized lots in this tract are being sold for $975, and the terms are $100 cash and $20 to $25 per month. Over $15,000 worth of lots sold first three days.

FLINTRIDGE, THE FINISHED TRACT, IS ALLURING

Glendalians Look With Admiration at Development

The many residents of Glendale who visited Flintridge during the week were much impressed by the tremendous activity that is evident there on every hand. Flintridge has long been known as one of the most beautiful tracts in the vicinity of Glendale. In greater and greater numbers, Glendale people are interesting themselves in this famous property.

From all indications the time is not far distant when it will be practically impossible to obtain choice Flintridge homesites at anything like original prices. Even in cases where the sites are not being built on at once, there seems to be a general feeling this season that now is the time to buy to the best advantage.

Some interesting facts were brought out yesterday by J. Harold Schenck in discussing the history of the Flintridge property of which he is the directing manager.

"Years ago before Glendale became one of the nation's fastest growing cities," he said, "Senator Frank P. Flint took a look into the future and bought the famous foothill property that now bears his name. When the expansion wave hit Los Angeles county and people sought close-in suburban property in which to build their homes, they found Flintridge completely developed and ready for occupancy.

"Nature had already made Flintridge one of the crowning scenic regions in Southern California, but Senator Flint enlisted the cooperation of skilled landscape architects and thousands of dollars were spent in building boulevards and bridle paths through the Flintridge parkland. Beautiful gardens and parkways were set out and public utilities were installed in every lane and avenue. Flintridge is generally regard today as Southern California's supreme residential community."

The model country home at Flintridge, completely finished and furnished, continues to attract scores of people to the property daily. The management is planning to receive a large number of visitors at the model house tomorrow. The house will be open daily and Sunday throughout the month for free public inspection.

The residents of Flintridge are enthusiastic over the educational arrangements now being perfected for the school children of the growing community. The handsome Flintridge school, now nearing completion, is to be fully equipped and turned over to the management of the Flintridge Parent-Teacher association, now being organized.

Parents of children attending the school are to have entire charge of its operation. They will select teachers and decide upon the courses of study to be followed.

The shool was built by the management of Flintridge after the plans of Myron B. Hunt, architect. The building stands on a commanding location on Oakwood avenue, Flintridge, and is built of solid concrete with a red tile roof.

The school has been designed to serve adequately for many years the educational requirements of the youth of Flintridge.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any druggist and use it like a cold cream.—Adv.

ACTIVITY IN FLINTRIDGE AWAKENS GLENDALE BUYERS

$100 OFFERED FOR NAME FOR TRACT

Tract on Corner of San Fernando Blvd. and Goodwin Street

Is your "thinking cap" handy? If it is, it will pay you to put it on and get busy.

Vern S. Stires, who will subdivide the Vineyard tract on the San Fernando boulevard at Goodwin street, just west of Glendale, offers one hundred dollars in cold, hard American cash for the best name suggested for his tract.

Anyone can enter the contest, he says, and there is no limit to the number of names which each entrant may submit. Suggestions are to be left at the tract office Sunday or any day next week. The contest will close Friday, March 9, 1923. The name of the winner will be announced and the prize awarded Sunday, March 11.

The new subdivision promises to be one of the most successful ever opened in the Glendale district, it is said. It is admirably located on the heavily traveled San Fernando boulevard and the surrounding property on two sides is complete built up.

One of the most interesting features of the new tract is the fact that every lot is a producing vineyard. It is said that the old Glassell holdings, of which the tract is a part, have been known for over 50 years as the finest grape raising land in Los Angeles county.

The new tract overlooks the beautiful Griffith park and has a remarkable view of the Santa Monica mountains. It borders on the proposed Riverside Drive extension. This beautiful drive, when completed, will double the value of the property, it is said.

The tract will have city water, gas, electricity, oil and gravel streets, concrete curbs and sidewalks, and other modern city improvements, Stires says.

It has the advantage of being the nearest subdivision to the business district of Glendale.

BUSINESS IS GOOD VOWS BABSON REPORT

CHICAGO, March 2, 1923.—Roger W. Babson today released the third installment of his annual survey of business conditions in the United States and Canada. He herein treats of what he calls the "Industrial West"—that great section immediately tributary to Chicago, including Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Michigan and Wisconsin.

"These states were once wholly agricultural, but are rapidly changing into an industrial section. New factories spring up every day—the younger generation is leaving farming for building, manufacturing and trade. Yet the total area under cultivation continues to hold its own.

"Every section of America," says Mr. Babson, "has its best barometer of business. For New England it is the number of spindles in operation; for Pennsylvania the number of blast furnaces; for New York the total foreign trade, etc. The best barometer for the "Industrial West" is the total car loadings at Chicago. These, since January 1, 1923 are running well ahead of the corresponding weeks of 1922—and compare well with the total car loadings for the entire country. For the current month of 1922 the net car loadings were about 2,500,000. For the current month of 1923 the car loadings wil show figures over 15 per cent greater, possibly final figures will show an increase of 500,000 cars. Moreover, of this increase only 60,000 were of an increase in coal loadings. In other words, if the car loadings of the current months are 2,500,000, only about 800,000 of these will be coal cars, compared with over 740,000 coal cars loaded during the same period in 1922. This shows that the great increase is in building materials, live stock, merchandise, etc.—there being no appreciable change in grain car loadings. It is true that these figures apply to the entire country; but proportionally they also apply to this section of which Chicago is the center.

"The middle cities and states are recording increases of from 10 to 35 per cent over a year ago. South Bend, Indiana, leads, compared with last year, but Des Moines, Iowa; Peoria, Illinois and Kalamazoo, Michigan are closely catching up. Indianapolis and Terre Haute are not doing as well as they should do, owing to some unknown reason. The largest cities of this section, such as Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit and Milwaukee, are reporting about the same as last year. Some think this is due to the natural lag of the large cities; but others believe that the medium sized cities are due for a much larger proportional growth. I am inclined to this belief. If so, the best opportunities during the next few years will be in the medium sized cities which have better available labor, lower rents and more pleasant living conditions. The heavy increase in railroad freight rates and the development of good roads should also help the medium sized city

"The automotive industry which is largely located in this section continues to thrive. Many talk about this industry reaching a point of saturation. Of course, it will some day; but when that time comes it will require fully as many persons as are now engaged in the industry to supply the cars and parts needed for replacement in order to keep the market saturated. It is true that some of the smaller companies will tend to build lighter and cheaper cars, and the industry as a whole will continue prosperous for many years to come. This means much to Michigan, Illinois, and Indiana. 1923 will be a good automobile year.

"This section tributary to Chicago is also profiting from the great residential building boom now on throughout the country. I have already referred to the cause of this boom—namely, the exodus of people from the cities to suburbs and the country due to the convenience of the automobile. The first industries to benefit from the building boom were the cement and brick people, then the lumber and steel interests began to prosper. Now the copper, paints and other industries are picking up. This sequence is invariably true—although when the boom culminates and the turn downward comes, the cement and brick people will be the first to feel the decline. The new roads in process of construction are also temporarily helping this section, although I fear that some of the sections will not feel so prosperous when the time comes to pay off the road bonds which they are now so freely issuing.

"The last great industry to benefit from a building boom is the furniture industry. After a house is built, new furniture is always purchased, even though the family moves from some other house. Now nearly four-fifths of the furniture manufactured in the United States is made in this "Industrial West." I forecast great activity for this industry during 1923. There is liable to be even a furniture shortage. Those who contemplate buying new furniture during 1923 should make their purchases at once. The industry is not one that can quickly expand. It also is very depedent upon transportation, which is liable to congestion throughout 1923. Remember that there are fewer miles of railroad in our country today than there were ten years ago. Terminals are becoming more congested every year and industries, which, like furniture, are so very dependent upon the railroads, should count upon this unfavorable factor. This is also true of the paper industry, which is thriving in this section and which is continually becoming a greater factor in its prosperity.

"I have said nothing about the agricultural outlook for this section because I shall treat it in detail next week, when discussing the purely agricultural states. Suffice to say, I found it improving and very much better than a year ago. The wiser farmers, however, are going into dairying and the raising of market garden products. Beans, peas, cabbage, lettuce, tomatoes, potatoes, fruits, etc., are becoming the most profitable products. Dairying and poultry raising alone is bringing about $400,000,000 a year into this section. Because of the diversity of income and the increasing profits, I feel optimistic as to the farming possibilities within reasonable trucking distance of good sized cities. When the farmers of this section get a broader vision and realize that each prospers only as the other prospers, then they all can prosper. The great enemy of the average farmer is not the natural elements without himself, but rather those human elements within himself. Creative nature has been good to the farmer, but human nature has been the farmer's great obstacle. When the farmers eliminate jealousy they will start on the highway of prosperity—but not until. The best antidote for jealousy is cooperation—yes a greater spirit of cooperation is what all Americans need today."

ALTA-CANYADA TERRACE

As we have sold the First Unit in Record Time, and as many were disappointed in not obtaining a homesite in this INCOMPARABLE location, we were compelled to open the Second Unit.

There are only a few of these Small Estates offered for sale—they are beautifully located and are all landscaped with many varieties of trees and shrubs, including redwoods, pines, cedars, cypress, oaks and roses, all grown to maturity.

These estates all front on beautiful winding paved boulevards, and pure spring water is piped to each tract.

This beautiful park has never been offered for sale in small estates until today. Be on the ground early, so that you will not be disappointed, as were many who desired an estate in Alta-Canyada Vista.

This property is located only thirty-five minutes' drive from Los Angeles and fifteen minutes either from Pasadena or Glendale, at an altitude of 1800 feet—away from the fog, dirt and noise of the city.

Spend the day in ALTA-CANYADA CANYON, a part of this tract which is held for the use only of purchasers of these estates. This is one of the most beautiful canyons in California, so do not miss seeing it.

See our display in Hellman Bank window, 6th and Main Sts., Los Angeles.

The Prices and Terms of these homesites are Remarkably Low—lower, in fact, than the cost of the improvements.

A WATER COURT IS PROPOSED FOR STATE

To Handle Irrigation Drainage and Related Maters

SACRAMENTO, March 3. — A water court, which would have wide powers in problems of irrigation, drainage and related matters, is proposed for the state of California, in a constitutional amendment offered in both houses of the legislature, and which will come up for consideration when the legislature resumes its work in March. The proposed amendment was offered in the senate by Sharkey, and in the assembly by McPherson, both from the straits section, where such problems are paramount. If the amendment passed the legislature, it would have to be approved by popular vote to be made effective.

Under its provisions, there would be five members of the court, all appointed by the governor, to serve for life. Three would be civil engineers and two lawyers. They would be paid not less than $10,000 annually each.

The state would be districted to insure representation of all sections on the court.

The water court would become a part of the judicial system of the state, and all cases involving water rights pending when it was organized would be transferred to it. Subsequent cases would be brought before it.

Jury trials could be had in the discretion of the court. Provision is made for assigning superior court judges who would, in effect, sit as its referees. It might also appoint its own referees. Appeals would be direct to the state supreme court. The court could initiate proceedings before itself.

It would have the exclusive power to grant new rights for the use of water, permit diversion changes, and reserve water for storage. The attorney general would be required to institute condemnation proceedings at the direction of the court. The legislature would have authority to enact laws to carry any of the general provisions of the amendment into effect.

Proponents of the amendment say it would relieve the courts of a vast mass of technical cases, and put them before experts trained to handle them, and would in effect give those interested in riparian rights of all description a tribunal similar in its work to the operation of the railroad commission in another field.

READ SELECTIVELY

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.

(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

Specialists in education are more and more stressing the dangers of indiscriminate and excessive reading. In particular they insist that over-attention to books is almost certain to act as a check on creative thinking.

As put by Sharper Knowlson, one of the most forceful exponents of this belief:

"The reader who goes through a volume of economics, leaving it for a book on eugenics, passing thence to a problem novel, and closing with a volume of futurism, has brought together a great store of ideas, suggestions, policies and arguments. If he be possessed of a glib tongue and a good memory he may have much to say that sounds entertaining.

"But in most instances he has merely filled his mind with information about which he has not reflected in a manner worthy of the name. His impressions are numerous and extremely varied, his expressions are voluble and confident, but his thinking is practically nil. As for originality—well, he is only a vociferous echo."

Mr. Knowlson adds:

"In varying degrees this devourer of books has his imitators in all classes of the community, and the only remedy is to reduce the number of impressions from books, so that the mind may not be overtaxed or its reflective work made otherwise impossible."

Of course, this does not mean that in the interest of originality—of creative thinking—books should altogether be avoided. Books, really good books, provide splendid stimuli for thought as well as matter for thought, and the man eager to think effectively would not willingly be deprived of their aid.

But it is incontrovertibly true that even good books, if read too generally or too persistently, tend to rob the mind of time that should be devoted to thinking, and tend also to make the mind passively receptive rather than actively critical. Still more is this likely to be the case when the books read are by no means as good as they might be, and when one lets one's self become a glutton for books of all sorts.

Then not only may the impulse be checked, but the memory itself be positively weakened. Excessive readers, as a rule, are hasty readers, and their habit of paying scant attention to what they read may be extended to other things than books, with the result that they forget all things quickly. Without due attention there cannot be lasting retentiveness.

Always, accordingly, one should wish, not to become known as a great reader—an ambition seemingly entertained by many—but to make one's self a wise reader. Which may be done by resolutely refusing to waste time over books that may clutter rather than clear the mind, and by slow and truly thoughtful reading of whatever books one does read.

Also—and most important—apart from the actual reading, periods themselves there should be periods of reflection on the subject matter of one's reading. "Go to the desert and meditate," is a command which must figuratively be obeyed by all who would profit to the utmost from the books they deem of stimulating value.

WEST MAKES THE WORLD TAKE A BACK SEAT

Complete registration figures for 1922 emphasize the leadership of the Pacific coast district in the use of motor vehicles. This is true from practically every standpoint. While, of course, the aggregate population of these seven far western states is not to be compared with that of the same number of big eastern states they far from suffer by comparison with the east in the number of automobiles owned per capita.

This, however, is the only particular in which numerically the Pacific states fall behind the older states nearer to the rising sun. Even at that this handful of sunset commonwealths drive close to 15 percent of all the motor vehicles in use in this country.

It is in gains in registration, though, that the Pacific region is conspicuously prominent in American motordom. The registration gain in motor cars and trucks over 1921 was 1,757,050 for the entire country. The Pacific coast contributed to this increase 245,942 licenses. Its percentage gain was 19.7 percent as compared with 16.7 percent for the United States. Sunset state registrations, gains and percentages were as follows:

	1922 Registrations	Gain	Per Cent
Arizona	38,034	2,985	8.5
California	842,663	184,633	28.0
Idaho	53,807	2,513	4.9
Nevada	12,847	2,047	19.0
Oregon	134,566	15,951	13.5
Utah	49,156	1,672	3.5
Wash.	217,111	26,041	13.6
Total	1,498,184	235,942	21.1

Although farming and in consequence general business conditions were bad in Idaho and Utah, it will be seen that inter-mountain automobile merchants were able to actually show gains over the previous year. Despite the unfavorable cotton conditions in that state, it will be noted that Arizona also scored a gain in motor car marketing. In each of the other states percentage gains reached double figures with Nevada leading the inland contingent with a 19 per cent increase.

It is, however, from the three states on the coast that the most sensational statistics are forthcoming. California, Oregon and Washington registered over one million motor vehicles last year, gained over a quarter of a million in registrations and showed an increase of nearly 25 per cent over 1921. Let the figures themselves tell the story:

	1922 Registrations	Gain	Per Cent
California	842,663	184,633	28.0
Oregon	134,566	15,951	13.5
Wash.	217,111	26,041	13.6
Total	1,194,340	226,041	23.4

While the three eastern states leading in registrations, as might be expected, more than double the sunset trio gain was but 14.6 per cent as compared with that of their Pacific coast sisters, whose motor using increase was 23.4 per cent. The eastern big state figures were:

	1922 Registrations	Gain	Per Cent
N. York	1,002,293	168,283	22.8
Ohio	859,000	32,300	3.9
Penn.	829,737	140,148	23.2
Total	2,691,030	340,731	14.1

Combining West with East, the six states quoted above furnished 3,885,370 or nearly 40 per cent of all the registrations in the United States.

ARBOR DAY WILL BE WIDELY OBSERVED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3, 1923. —Announcement was made here today that arrangements have been completed to observe the week of March 4-10 as Tree Planting week in California. The plan includes the observance of Arbor Day March 7, and is intended to lay stress on the necessity for encouraging the planting of trees along the highways, in school grounds and parks, and in private gardens.

Similar campaigns have been carried on in practically every state in the union, with results so satisfactory that in nearly every instance it has been decided to repeat the plan next year. The plan has received the endorsement of public officials and civic organizations wherever it has been tried.

California possesses a wonderful system of highways, which can be greatly improved in appearance by the planting of suitable shade trees. There are stretches where this work has been done, and the results invariably draw comments of a most favorable character from the tourist or visitor. This work has been recognized as of sufficient importance to attract the efforts of local commercial bodies which have provided the funds necessary to accomplish it. Notable examples are the Tulare Board of Trade, the Chico Chamber of Commerce, and the entire community of Stockton.

FLINTRIDGE

"Southern California's Choicest Residential Park"

1 Distinction—Flintridge is Glendale's supreme suburban community of distinction.

2 Accessible—Flintridge is half way between Glendale and Pasadena, less than 15 minutes from each, and only 35 minutes from Los Angeles.

3 Prices—Flintridge prices are less per acre than 75% of the subdivisions on the Glendale market today.

4 Development—Flintridge is not a subdivision; it is a completely developed community.

5 Maturity—The pioneering stage at Flintridge was passed years ago with the erection of scores of homes ranging in cost from $3000 to $300,000.

6 Improvements—At Flintridge all utilities and conveniences are completely installed—paved streets and curbs, planted parkways, water, gas, electricity, telephones, schools, stores and transportation.

7 Stores—The postoffice and merchants maintain daily delivery service throughout Flintridge.

8 Choice—Flintridge comprises the most accessible prat of the matchless foothill region—above the fog and frost zone.

15 Spirit—There is a genuine, cordial community life at Flintridge.

16 WARNING—There is only one Flintridge; there never can be another. The time to buy in Flintridge to the best advantage is while original prices still obtain and while choice locations are still available.

THE UNITED STATES COMPARED WITH THE AVERAGE OF POWERS

An interesting comparison has been made by the War Department of the United States and the powers.

The figures apply to economic life.

One interesting comparison is on population per square mile, which is thirty-one in the United States as against eighty-eight, the average of the powers. This gives the United States a percentage of thirty-five of the average.

The tables are turned in the matter of "National Wealth Per Capita—Dollars." The United States, in this comparison, is about three and one-eighth times richer than the average of the powers, the per capita wealth of the United States being $2,945, and that of the average of the powers being $944.

But the pendulum swings back again in the comparison of national debt in per cent of national wealth. While the average of the powers is $24.13, the amount in the United States is only $6.90, which latter figure is twenty-nine per cent of the average.

However, the tables are turned again in the matter of taxes per capita (mother country), the United States being $38, and the average of powers being $25.68, thus making the taxes per capita of the United States almost one and a half times (148 per cent) the average of the powers.

There is very little difference between the national debt per capita of the United States and that of the average of powers, the former being $202 and the latter $208.

One more comparison may be of interest. The foreign commerce per capita of the average of powers is $71, while that of the United States is $114, giving the United States a percentage of 161 of the average.

Article No. 22

The Informatory Double

The Redouble

One of the most interesting results of the No Trump double is the redouble, and some of the biggest penalties of the game are obtained by its use. It is the best defense that has yet been found for a weak double of one No Trump, and the best reason for not making unsound doubles. The fact that it is not well known should make this article of peculiar interest, even to advanced players.

The theory of the redouble is very simple. Assume that the dealer bids one No Trump, second hand doubles and dealer's partner also holds a No Trump. With such a hand it would be possible to bid two No Trump over the double and undoubtedly make the contract; but if so, the doubler and his partner can take at best only five tricks. Under such conditions, isn't it only reasonable to redouble, thereby informing partner that you also have a No Trump and that the player who doubled is placed between two big hands; and telling him to double any bid opponents may make, and play for big penalties? One of the most common things that happen during an evening's play is to have the dealer bid one No Trump, second double and dealer's partner bid two No Trump, whereas if latter had redoubled, he and his partner could have scored in penalties anywhere from 200 to 500 points.

The redouble is undoubtedly the strongest defense to the double and in the hands of experts is probably the greatest scorer of penalties in the game. The requirements for a redouble, when partner's No Trump bid has been doubled by second hand, are very simple, being merely those of a first or second hand No Trump; that is, at least two quick tricks distributed in at least three suits. Sometimes it is possible to redouble on only an average hand, if the quick tricks are supported by strong intermediate cards. In the following example hands, it is assumed that dealer has bid one No Trump, and second hand has doubled. Suppose dealer's partner holds:

Hearts—K, Q, 7
Clubs—K, 8, 7
Diamonds—J, 7, 4, 2
Spades—K, J, 2

Such a hand as this represents an ideal redouble because of the even distribution. No matter what bid opponents make over the redouble, and whether or not partner passes such bid, with the foregoing hand dealer's partner should double and with the expectation of obtaining a large penalty.

Hearts—A, J, 7
Clubs—K, 10, 8, 6
Diamonds—J, 10, 7
Spades—Q, 10, 9

With the foregoing hand, also, dealer's partner should redouble, even though it contains but one and three-quarters quick tricks. It is, therefore, an average hand only, but is so strong in intermediate cards that it is a sound redouble. This hand represents the very least quick trick strength to justify a redouble. With any less strength, the dealer's partner should pass. These hands should be studied and compared with the ones cited in the article on procedure of partner of player whose bid has been doubled.

The obligation to bid, which the doubler of the one No Trump puts upon his partner, is in no way affected by the redouble. He must bid just the same as if there had been no redouble. When a redouble is made it conveys the message to original bidder that he and his partner have the doubler at a big disadvantage and should play for penalties. It should convey the same message to opponents also, and they should be very alert to the danger. For that reason it is obligatory for partner of the doubler to show his suit immediately. If this suit is one that the original No Trump bidder thinks he can defeat, he should double and play for the penalty. Such a double is always a business double. For example, assume that dealer has bid a No Trump, second hand has doubled, third hand has redoubled and fourth hand has bid two Hearts. The dealer with the following hand:

Hearts—K, 10, 8, 6
Clubs—A, 3, 2
Diamonds—J, 10, 7
Spades—K, J, 9

should double, with the firm intention of doubling any subsequent bid that opponents may make.

The doubler of the No Trump bid which has been redoubled is in a very difficult position and should be very alert to avoid the danger confronting him. He should pay particular attention to his partner's bid over the redouble and not shift the bid to one of his own hand, unless fairly certain that such bid will result in less loss than his partner's bid. He should be particularly careful not to increase the contract, if he can possibly avoid doing so. A redouble is a warning that there is a penalty ahead and that he should be very wary. The best defense to a redouble is not to make unsound doubles. When this strong defense to the double is better understood, players will either have to make sounder doubles or quit the game.

Montezuma's Castle

By JOHN BRECK

Just north of Camp Verde on your Arizona map, stands one of the landmarks of prehistoric American history, known as Montezuma's Castle. It is a village of little adobe huts, piled story after story above one another in the curve of a towering cliff, and roofed at the top by a wide ledge of rock, which guards it from the weather and from attack by enemies on the plateau above. Below its dizzy height, the rocky wall falls sheer to the broad dry bed of a stream, where a trickling brook still wets the feet of the cottonwoods. Books have been written on European remains far less stimulating to the imagination, while our "castle" is little known save as a curiosity on a picture postcard. Yet perhaps this is natural enough; the people who lived here were no ancestors of ours; and yet—and yet—

Who were they, these ancient builders? Why did they choose this lofty eyrie, accessible only by a winding path that creeps around the skirts of the cliff? Common report has it that they were the forerunners of the Maya civilization which flowered in Yucatan and Mexico. At least they were clever craftsmen; we ourselves could hardly do better with the materials they had at their command, and their handiwork has stood the test of time. They planted beans, and probably chia, pigweed, and sunflower, staple grains of the aborigines before the advent of the maize. These grow here now, along with the wild cotton. Mesquites, acorns, and juniper berries needed no planting. And they had been canny enough to settle on the old highway of migration between the summer feed of the mountains and the winter feed of the plains, so game would be passing and repassing them in a constant stream. Did they meet their doom at the hands of the fierce nomad hunters who followed in its train?

Perhaps. The ancient river bed must have been moister then. Their beams and rafters are of oak, of a larger growth than springs here now; and their wattled floors are bedded thick with reeds below and adobe pavement. Yet the water level must be twenty feet higher than it is now to lap the foot of the cliff in which the "castle" nestles. If it did not reach it, their enemies could starve them out for want of water in a few days' time.

And if it did, how explain the earth-lined ditches, now hardened into stone, for irrigating their cotton fields, which run into the valley? More pertinent still, the caves which surround the great natural artesian pool known as Montezuma's Well, some four miles away, which are contemporary with the ruin, if not earlier, would have been submerged. One wonders if folk as observant as these might not have found this ledge a refuge from the mosquitoes which swarmed in the marsh below. Was malaria the foe they could not withstand?

WOMEN SAVE BABIES

The Association of University Women, composed of graduates of universities and colleges all over the country, is backing the Sheppard-Towner bill to save babies.

"Life insurance company investigations have proved that one mother dies in every 185 confinements," said Mrs. W. C. Kruegel, president of the chapter of the association at the State College of Washington.

"The terrible thing about it is that this death rate is not on the decrease. The hazard begins to look larger. If 185 men contemplating a trip to Panama were told that, according to the prevailing average, one of the group would die on the trip, some of the crowd would elect to stay at home.

"Women now have their rights, and they demand that the vocation of motherhood be made safe, just as men have demanded that certain vocations of theirs be made safe. When good care is given before and at time of birth the death rate is reduced 60 per cent among the mothers, and the number of stillborn babies is reduced from 45 to 12, the death rate of babies under a month old reduced from 40 to 10.

"The Sheppard-Towner Maternity bill authorizes appropriations for investigations by the Children's Bureau as to infant and maternal mortality and plan of work, to be originated in each state and carried out there, the plans to be approved by a Federal Board of Maternity and Infant Hygiene, composed of the chief of the Children's Bureau and the U. S. Surgeon General, the U. S. Commissioner of Education.

"Up to this time 42 states have accepted the terms of this act—all but Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, Louisiana, and Washington. A number of the eastern papers misrepresented this bill in editorials, letters, etc. The bill specifically provides that no official or agent shall have a right to enter a home or take charge of a child against the protest of either of the parents, nor shall the power of the parent or guardian be in any way limited, so the objections raised by those misrepresenting the bill are met by the bill itself.

"Why has Washington not accepted the provisions of this act? We can't discover the motives for the opposition. It does not provide for the expenditure of enough money to provide coffins for the mothers and babies who are now needlessly dying."

$100.00 For a Name

A cash prize of $100 will be paid to the person who suggests the best name for our new subdivision. The name should be short, attractive and easy to pronounce. Any number of names may be submitted.

THESE FACTS MAY HELP YOU

The new subdivision is located at the corner of San Fernando Blvd. and Goodwin St.

Every lot is a producing vineyard.

It is nearer to the center of Glendale than any other subdivision.

It overlooks beautiful Griffith Park and has an unexcelled view of the mountains.

The proposed Riverside Drive extension passes right through the tract.

All modern improvements, including sidewalks, curbs, oiled and graveled streets, water, gas and electricity.

Terms will be arranged to suit the convenience of the purchaser.

Pre-opening prices for large lots are as low as $800, including grape vines.

Contest closes Friday, March 10. Name of winner will be announced and prize awarded Sunday, March 12.

Come out tomorrow or any day next week. See the tract, then think up a good name. Yours may be the winner.

MAGNOLIA PARK TRACT IS OPEN

Wonderful Home Location West of Burbank Beckons

Magnolia Park, consisting of 320 acres of land that is as fine as can be found anywhere in this part of the country, located between Hollywood, Lankershim and Burbank, is just being opened to the realty buyers of Southern California. At this time the first unit of 300 lots is being offered, and although the property has not publicly been placed on the market, quite a few of the homesites have been disposed of.

Magnolia Park is located in that wonderful agricultural section situated west of Burbank. Anyone who has ever passed through that locality knows the wonderful things that can be raised there. It is the part of the valley in which a great deal of the produce consumed in Glendale and Burbank, is produced.

It is also the home of the peach, walnut, apricot and the grape. The market gardens of Los Angeles and the poultry yards of Southern California where the rapid transit lines must go, where industries must locate, where suburban centers will rise, where three hundred thousand people must live, where the banker, the merchant, the manufacturer and the wage-earner will be enjoying the comforts of a city home surrounded by a garden of fruits, milk and honey, with fresh fruits and vegetables out of his own yard. And there is plenty of breathing space, too.

This tract is actually at the threshold of the greatest channel of industrial activity in California. The call for real estate in Southern California during the past year has led the home-seeker to the field of Lankershim, Burbank, Van Nuys and Glendale. Thousands have rushed in and land values have arisen in their normal way. The owner of the soil has been the one to get the advantage of this increase.

"We have absolute assurance," said the subdivider of this tract this morning, "that before long there will be an influx of home-seekers and investors from the eastern states that will surprise the most optimistic. This will naturally result in increased land values and the best locations will be the ones to reap the increase.

Magnolia Park is one of the prettiest tracts in Southern California. It is accessible to all of the points that the home person would care to visit. The prices that are being asked for lots in this tract include everything in the way of improvements, such as water, gas, electricity, cement curbs, sidewalks, and good streets.

The Lankershim Realty company, that is putting on this subdivision, has opened some of the largest tracts of land in and around Lankershim and the members know values when they see them. They claim that never in their experience have they been able to offer to the public such honest values in real estate as they are giving in this tract. The subdividers and agents are Earl L. White and C. F. Riggins.

The terms on which the lots in this tract are being sold are the big surprise. For $15 down and $10 per month, the ambitious person can "nail" a lot that will be increasing in value as the weeks and months wear away. By the time it is paid for it will be worth twice the purchase price.

Here's how to get to the tract: From Glendale go north on San Fernando road to Burbank, turn off San Fernando to left at Magnolia avenue, or go out Olive avenue to Pioneer street. You can't miss the tract.

THE TUESDAY FOLKS THANK COUNCIL FOR PALMS

The members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club are grateful for the palms that were given to that organization by the city council. Th's appreciation was expressed in a letter received by the board:.

"Please accept the very sincere appreciation of the board and members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club for assistance in moving the 13 palms for the new club house grounds.

"When placed on the ground these trees will help very much in beautifying the place, quite beyond the possibility of our financial resources, had we not had your cooperation and assistance."

This letter was signed by Mrs. Frank C. Ayars, corresponding secretary of the club.

JACK LUCAS SELLS GOLD BEARING ACREAGE

Does Jack Lucas, the "real estater" at 309 South Brand, deal n gold bricks?" Not that anybody knows of, but he can fit you out, on demand, with a choice assortment of gold-bearing acres. At least that is what he did for J. C. Pollock this week, selling him 800 acres of land near Oroville, through which runs a ledge of gold-bearing quartz. As it adjoins land on which gold mining is already developed. Mr. Pollock feels sure he has a bonanza in sight. This is only one of the several dozen sales made thus far this year by this cheerful philosopher of real estate circles, the dealer with the graceful touch of embonpoint, Jack Lucas, the "go-it-alone" man; and the total valuation of his deals the past two months crowds $200,000 very closely.

BUYERS SNATCH UP SUNSET GROVE LOTS

Hamlin & Hepburn's new subdivision, "Sunset Grove," which is located between Kenneth road and Tenth street in northwest section of the city is selling rapidly. The entire tract is covered with delicious fruit trees, giving not only the fruit, but plenty of shade, which makes the lots far more desirable than lots without any trees. The tract commands a panoramic view of the whole valley, being located only about one-half mile from the Brand estate in a section which is developing rapidly.

Hamlin & Hepburn invite comparison between the lots in Sunset Grove and other lots in this locality. They state that there is no place in the northwest section of the city where restricted lots of full size can be purchased at as low price and on as easy terms.

In regard to the prices, Mr. Hamlin says the more they look around, they more they are convinced that Sunset Grove lots are from $400 to $500 under their present value. "We probably made a mistake to make up a price schedule so low but it has been our custom all through our subdivisions in the northwest section to establish a price schedule and maintain that schedule until the unit is sold out and we expect to do that in this case. It certainly affords an opportunity to home seekers to purchase lots in this beautiful section at several hundred dollars under the prices of adjoining lots."

In almost every city there is a time when certain of the older residential districts undergo changes In the progress of the development of Los Angeles there was a time when some its best residences were located on Figueroa street and on West Adams street. Later on, the development was out Wilshire boulevard and very many sold their places in these older districts and moved out and now many of them are going still farther to the foothills on both sides of the Santa Monica mountains.

In all of California, there is no more delightful spot than the foothills of the northwest section of Glendale adjoining the Verdugos, and many, many business men who have formerly lived in the older sections of Glendale are selling their places and moving to this new and delightful part of the city and many more are planning to do this just as soon as they can make the necessary arrangements.

In a very few years the whole northwest section of the city will be built up and the prices of lots will then be far higher than at the present time.

When an opportunity is offered to purchase one of these lots at the low present prices on terms so easy that almost anybody can handle them and hold the land for a future homesite it certainly is advantageous to the purchaser.

BIG GLEN OAKS SUBDIVISION IS HUGE MAGNET

Where Glendalians Can See the Value of the Near Future

There are many subdivisions in and around Glendale which have been opened lately and others are to follow, but few have attracted more attention than the big Glen Oaks subdivision, which has been thrown upon the market. During the past four months preparations have been under way for the opening of this tract of land, which lies at the very door of the city, and many people have wondered when they would be given an opportunity to buy.

At last that time has arrived, and the large announcement elsewhere in this issue gives full details regarding the subdividing of one of the largest tracts of land in this section. The Frank Meline Co. is handling this fine property and is offering it in lots of half acres each at as low as $1200, on very easy terms. This low price is made for the re-opening sale only, and doubtless many will take advantage of the low price and buy.

Glen Oaks is located where "Glendale and Pasadena join," and is a natural park with thousands of beautiful oak trees, affording wonderful building sites.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored.—Adv.

Benmar Hills BURBANK

The City Beautiful

Where a Model City Will Grow Up Around Your Home

Southern California has many attractive subdivisions in which to make your home.

But has only one BENMAR HILLS—only one enterprise destined to be more than a subdivision—more than a suburb—a beautifully located, perfectly planned, model American city!

The nucleus is the present thriving city of Burbank, city of assured greatness. Farsighted men have easily perceived that Burbank must expand, with swift, gigantic steps. And they have made provision so that, when that expansion has reached a population of 100,000 people, there will have been developed an attractive, healthful, well balanced city, complete in every essential. This superb purpose will be carried out at BENMAR HILLS, a property of approximately 3000 acres, which, taking the western part of the present City of Burbank, sweeps from the San Fernando boulevard up the slopes to the summits of the green Verdugo Hills.

Unsurpassed in its scenic beauty, in its climate, in its natural advantage, BENMAR HILLS fills every requirement of its mighty purpose—a purpose already officially recognized by the City of Burbank.

The city has built its new $250,000 high school on a Benmar Hills site—it has chosen another location there for a new grammar school. Deeds have also been accepted by the city's officials to a 20-acre site for a Model Civic Center—to parks, athletic grounds and public auto park—and they have also sanctioned the completely planned system of boulevards and parked streets prepared for BENMAR HILLS. "The City Beautiful" will have clubs, churches, schools—every public institution necessary to its welfare.

And Your Home in the Midst of It All

Calculate the value of property in a city like that, as compared with the low price at which you can buy it now. Better still, picture yourself a resident of that community, in full enjoyment of advantages without parallel in any other city in the land.

From either standpoint you owe it to yourself to see Benmar Hills at once. Drive out San Fernando boulevard to the western part of Burbank.

RED PEPPER HEAT STOPS BACKACHE

The heat of red peppers takes the "ouch" from a sore, lame back. It can not hurt you, and it certainly ends the torture at once.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub, and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers.

Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.—Adv.
